The Man Who Can Make Hard Things Easy Is the Educator.

The game of life—long, long ago the Indian played the game of survival pitting himself against the hazards of life. Now North Central's young maidens and warriors are training to play the modern game of life.

Expert training is needed for this most complex of all games—training and guidance by wise leaders. One such leader is Ernest L. Hix, retiring head of the science department, who has guided NC maidens and warriors for thirty years.

As a graduate of NC and a born and bred Spokanite, Mr. Hix has been part of North Central from its beginnings. He has played an important role in student life as a chemistry teacher, as one of the first Associated Student Body advisers and as the boys' varsity tennis coach for twenty-five years.

Without the expert guidance of Mr. Hix and other capable leaders, North Central's young Indians would not have adequate preparation for the intricate game of life. So . . . to Mr. Hix and all our wise leaders, we dedicate the 1961 Tamarack.

Mr. William C. Sorenson,
Superintendent of Schools

William Sorenson, Executive Officer of Board of Education, Responsible for Regulations Set Forth by the Board

William C. Sorenson, as Superintendent of Schools for District 81, is considered the chief executive officer of the Board of Education and is responsible for carrying out all policies or rules and regulations established by the Board of Directors. Mr. Sorenson makes the rules which are necessary to make the policies of the Board of Directors effective.

All individuals employed by the board are responsible to Mr. Sorenson. Submitting in writing his recommendations for all candidates for employment, being responsible for the assignment of all personnel within the school district and providing professional leadership for the educational program of the schools are more duties delegated to him.

Mr. Sorenson also is responsible for the development of a plan of maintenance, improvement, or expansion of buildings and site facilities needed and means of keeping the community informed about school matters. He also brings back various ideas which can be used in our school system from meetings with other school officials.

At the beginning of each fiscal year, Mr. Sorenson must submit to the Board of Directors a preliminary budget for the ensuing year and at the end of each school year make a report on the operation of the school system.

This year the Downtown Kiwanis Club, sponsor of the newly organized Key Club at North Central, gave Mr. Sorenson a special award and much recognition for his service in organizing the club.

Board of District No. 81 Directly Responsible for School Policies

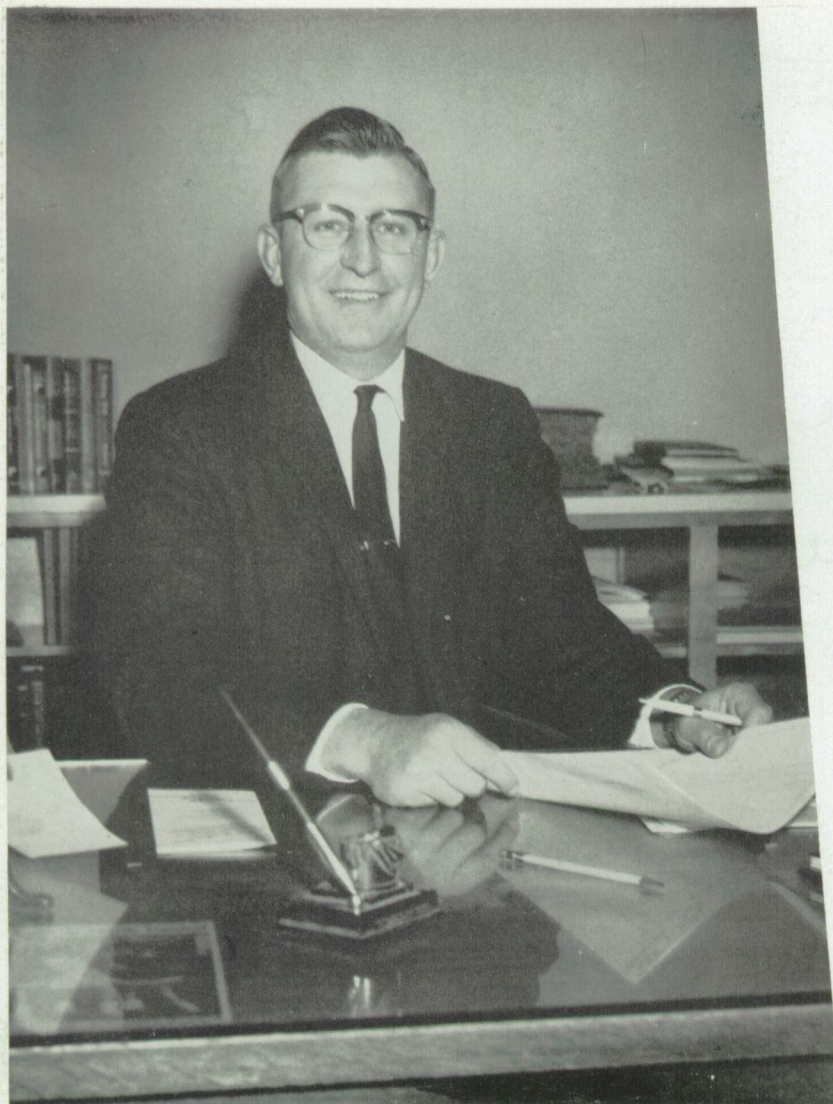

School District 81 is an example of local government which has been authorized by the Constitution of the State of Washington. The School Board's functions are primarily legislative. The Board of Directors is directly responsible for establishing local school policies.

Employing a city superintendent of schools, teachers, janitors, one or more assistant city superintendents, supervisors of instruction and all other necessary persons for the well-being of the school district is the main responsibility of the Board of Directors. Adopting and enforcing such rules as may be deemed essential and determining the length of time that school shall be maintained are more duties delegated to the board.

The Board of Directors must also provide textbooks and supplies to be used by the students and prohibit all secret fraternities and sororities among the students in any of the schools of the district.

Mary F. Wurth, president, and James E. Winton, vice-president, sign important papers.

Principal John P. Rodkey

Príncípal John P. Rodkey Bears Many Responsíbílítíes

John P. Rodkey, as principal of North Central, assumes many responsibilities. Before he comes to school, he makes arrangements for substitute teachers. After arriving at school, he consults with teachers about grading and other problems.

In the morning, Mr. Rodkey works with the deans and vice-principal on acute discipline cases and has orientation with cadet teachers assigned by the near-by teacher-training colleges. Lunch, if any at all, is usually taken shortly after noon.

In the afternoon, Mr. Rodkey attends meetings with other secondary principals of the school district and with the athletic board of control to discuss league schedules and problems. Every Tuesday after school he conducts a faculty meeting for the in-service training of teachers. Mr. Rodkey also edits the daily bulletin of school news and when completing this, he often has a meeting at the Administration building to work on millage and bond levies or other school matters with the board and superintendent.

During his busy day, Mr. Rodkey answers numerous phone calls, writes volumes of correspondence regarding former students, discusses curriculum problems with department heads and makes plans for building improvements. In the evenings, he attends the athletic, music and drama events of the school and helps chaperone the school dances.

Vice-Principal Edward Gill Assists Smooth, Efficient School Operation

E. Edward Gill, as vice-principal, is the executive officer of the school, responsible to the principal for the smooth and efficient operation of the school, and, in the absence of the principal, serves as administrative head of the school. Assisting staff members in matters of student control and procedures and being responsible for the class schedule and the assignment of students are more of Mr. Gill's duties. Mr. Gill must also assist the principal in the supervision of school functions, such as assemblies, evening programs and athletic contests. He has charge of pupil accounting and authorizes the drop card of students leaving school.

Kenneth Mhyre, Dean of Boys, discusses a necessary schedule change.

Vice-principal Edward Gill takes time out of his busy schedule to pose for the photographer.

Boys' Dean Kenneth Mhyre Guides Boys Through Academic Problems

Counseling the boys at North Central is the main duty of Kenneth C. Mhyre, although he does do some work with girls. He has conferences with parents and students about the guidance program available and other personal problems of the student. Assisting the vice-principal with scheduling problems, talking to students about failures and academic progress, issuing transfers and early dismissals and extending guidance in discipline cases are more of Mr. Mhyre's responsibilities.

Miss Damon Helps Girls to Find Adjustments to Personal Problems

Miss Patricia A. Damon's main responsibility at North Central is counseling the girls. Helping the girls to help themselves and find happy adjustments to life at school and home, now and in the future, are her main objectives. Students can often overcome their personal problems when they can talk to a person who is interested in them, according to Miss Damon. Miss Damon likes and enjoys working with high school students and believes in them and their abilities. She feels that a high school education is a must for a happy adjustment to life today.

Team Teaching Is Experimental

Team teaching in English 5 and 6 has been an experimental project for the department. Three teachers combined their classes two days each week for lectures and instructional material on American literature as well as grammar, punctuation and composition. Two days each week these classes were divided into discussion groups of 12 to 15 students while the others worked independently in the library. On the fifth day the students were assigned individual conferences, making it possible for each student to discuss his themes, tests and daily exercises with his teacher.

English 1-6 are basic courses offered for the first three years of high school and are required of all students. Here emphasis is placed on spelling, vocabulary, fundamentals of correct speech and written composition, and instruction in techniques of reading and interpretation. A student may select courses from literature, composition, vocabulary and speech in his senior year.

Journalism, debate and dramatics may be started in the sophomore year and continued through the senior year. The North Central News, a weekly publication, and the year-book, the Tamarack, are outstanding examples of students' journalistic abilities. NC debaters displayed their abilities both in local and state tournaments, and the dramatics department produces several plays during the school year.

Mathematics Undergoes Modernization By Introduction of 'New' Terminology

High school mathematics is undergoing extensive modernization. The teachers and students are finding it difficult to keep up with the changing terminology and methods. Here are some samples of the "new" mathematics:

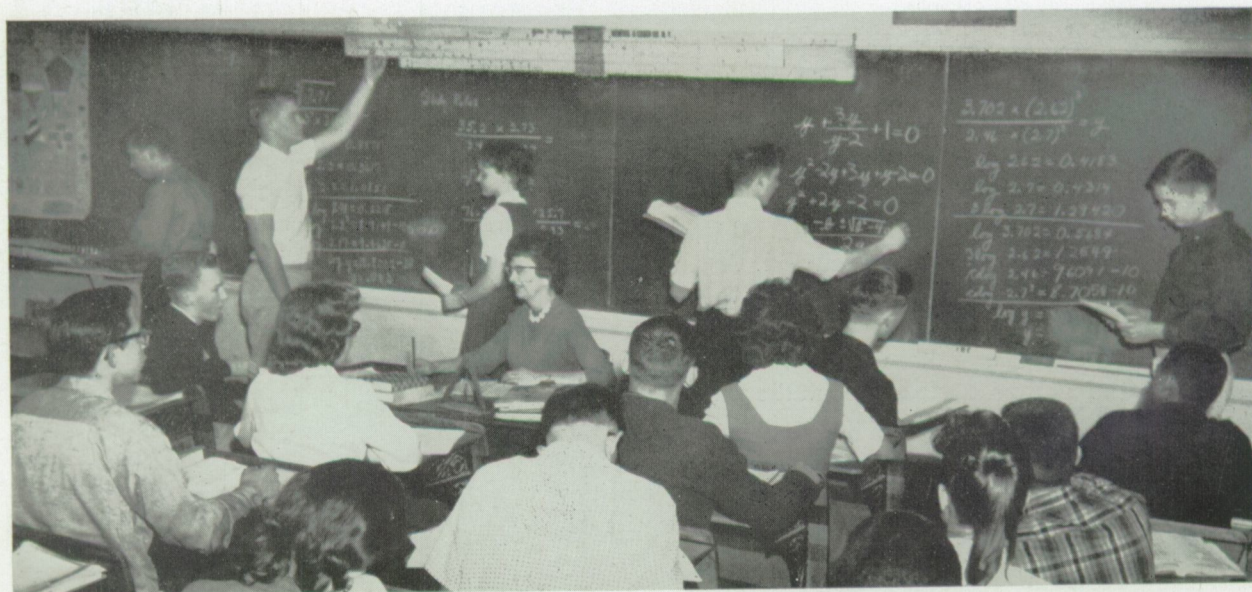

Can $1+1$ be 10? Yes, if the numbers are "binary."

Can $1+1$ be 1? Yes, in "Boolean" algebra.

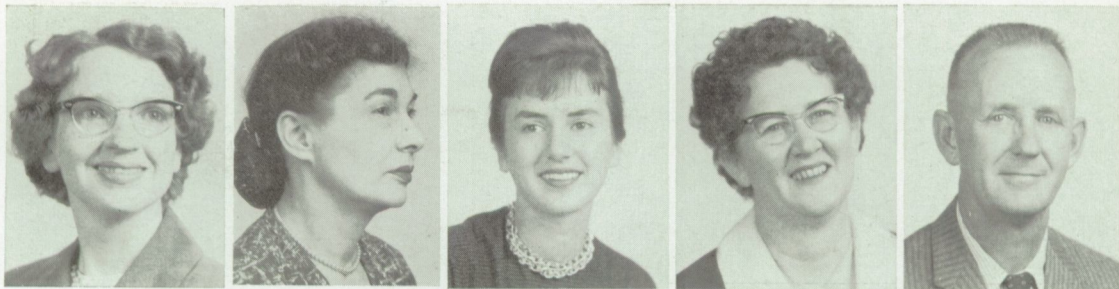

Can $7+8$ be 3? Yes, if the "modulus" is twelve.

When is y a "function" of x ? When there is one, and only one, value of y for every x .

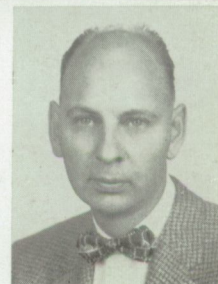

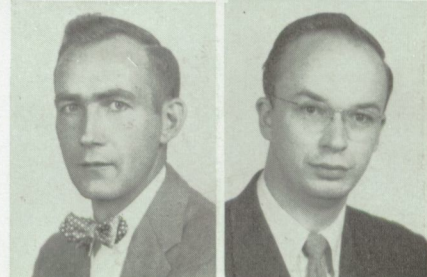

What is a point? In plane analytical geometry it is an "ordered pair" of numbers.

Industrial Arts, Homemaking Prepare Students for Future Roles

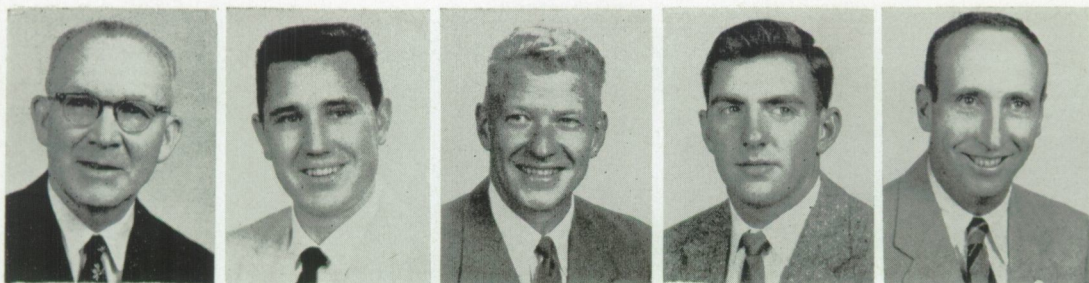

Courses in industrial arts are excellent prevocational training for trades and also for college. Wood, metal, drafting, electronics and auto mechanics are offered by the department.

Architectural drawing teaches the component parts and construction of a house. A boy with superior drawing skill is selected each year from the department. Terry Houger, senior, has been doing the school service drawing for North Central.

Invaluable training to girls is offered through the homemaking department. Homemaking classes in foods, clothing, home furnishings, advanced homemaking, child development and social relations are offered to the girls.

Dorothy Tourtellotte, Norma Bartelt and Marcia Dungan display the stuffed toys made by the Child Development class as a philanthropic project. These toys are distributed among the various children's homes in Spokane.

Will North Central Science Classes Obtain Energy from Nuclear Fusion?

What lies ahead in science for North Central students? Will a biology class discover the cause of cancer and a way to control it? Will a class in geology succeed in drilling a Mohole through the earth's crust to reach the interior region? Will physics or chemistry students succeed in designing and building a rocket that will put a man in space or find a way to obtain energy from controlled nuclear fission?

Of course none of these things are possible for high school students. But definite progress on all is being made by well-trained scientists.

North Central science classes are giving capable students an opportunity to learn fundamental facts and theories that will give them a good start toward a scientific career that offers almost unlimited possibilities. The classes offer students who are not interested in a scientific career an opportunity to gain some understanding of the constantly changing scientific world in which they live.

Growing Interest in Languages Results

Rapidly increasing interest in foreign languages has been shown by North Central students during the past few years. This interest was increased to the point where two new classes were added to the department's curriculum. Latin 5 and 6 and German 1 and 2 were offered this year in addition to the Spanish, French and Latin 1-4 classes. A second year of German will be offered next year.

A basic foundation for other languages can be attained by taking Latin. Latin also serves as a classical background. The third-year Latin students are concentrating on reading, especially that of Cicero.

In the three modern languages offered, Spanish, French and German, an earnest effort is made to teach the student to speak the language, as well as to read and write it. In his study of the language, the student also learns much about the people of the country—their customs, their history, their literature, their way of thinking.

Students in Social Studies Learn

Developing maturity of action in students by the study of factual knowledge of the past and present, is the major objective of the social studies department. It is hoped that students will learn the skills, attitudes and information that is necessary for an understanding of our own and other activities of this world. It is felt that this will lead them to a more successful and enlightened citizenship in our government by the people, directly or through representatives.

America has such a unique government, equality of rights, and opportunity available to each citizen that it should be stressed to the student while in high school. This will create more of an interest for the years ahead, as each person takes his place in the world.

World Facts of Past and Present

The department offers courses in Washington history, United States history, Northwest history, world geography, contemporary world problems, economics, current problems and sociology. These courses lead to the required courses for graduation, as well as a wide variety of electives for social studies majors.

Many changes within the social studies department have occurred during the past year. Washington history, which was at one time connected with the English department, is now an actual part of the social studies department. World geography has replaced school life, a course once required for freshman. Juniors have been given the opportunity to take United States history.

Business Education Department Offers Valuable Courses in Everyday Life

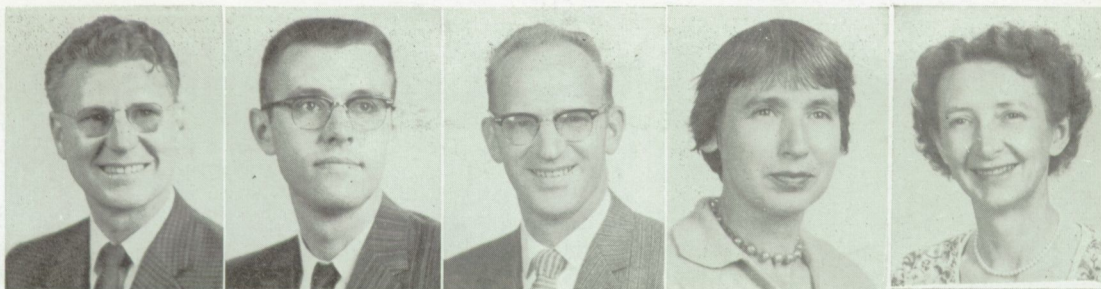

Mr. James Griggs helps Bev Birge with the Bank Posting Machine while Deedie Reynolds, Delaney Ralston, Charlotte Lipps, Carol Partridge, Thelma Olson, Jeanette Larson, Judy Howarth, Dorothy Tillman, Jackie Potter and Margy Flint work with other office practice machines.

Valuable courses in everyday life and in earning a living are offered in the business education department. Typing is a timesaving skill that nearly everyone needs. In addition to its vocational and personal values, the study of bookkeeping makes an individual aware of the problems of the American way of life. Skill in shorthand will open the door of opportunity to many graduates. A knowledge of office machines, filing, business arithmetic, business English and letter writing increases the potential value of a graduate in the business world.

To attain these goals, the business education department offers two-year courses in typing, bookkeeping and shorthand, and a one-year course in office practice. Typing is open to all students; bookkeeping to sophomores, juniors and seniors; shorthand to juniors and seniors, and office practice to seniors only.

If one wishes to be vocationally proficient in typing, shorthand or bookkeeping, it is highly recommended that these subjects be studied for two years. For personal use, one year is usually sufficient, and will fulfill any necessary experience after graduation.

School Nurse Provides Medical Aid; Music, Art Helps Self-Expression

Is there a nurse in the school? There certainly is, one whose occupation is to help people in general, particularly students. Medical consultation concerning health problems is always available.

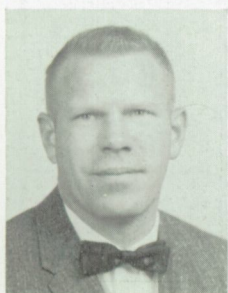

The art department seeks to promote self expression through varied art media. The art aspirant finds Basic Art, Commercial Art, Illustration, Senior Studio and other courses open to him. In these classes he learns to apply basic principles of design and color.

Students in the choruses, bands, choir and orchestra learn to apply the principles of harmony in consonance. Thus they discover the importance of individual parts and of the part's dependence on the other ones in the group in "speaking" this language of sounds.

If Mr. Dewey has succeeded in thoroughly confusing one with his unique system of book classification in the library, one will find the two "interpreters," the librarians, extremely helpful. They will gladly answer any question, whether it pertains to the library, a history lesson, or is just a matter of curiosity.

Participation in P. E. Improves Health; Safe Driving Teaches Traffic Rules

Carol Hutchings, Connie Olson, Marcia Dungan and Sandy Bowen are caught doing exercises in their Red Feather class.

Feel better, have fun, burn calories, and earn credits through participation in physical education activities. After-school activities as well as classes are available for students who wish to participate in their favorite sports. Among those open to participation are: Basketball, football, wrestling, swimming, bowling, tennis and golf. In this way the physical education department is meeting the challenge of producing a more able-bodied young America, as well as impressing the student with the importance of good sportsmanship. According to Plato, physical fitness and mental fitness go hand in hand, making physical education imperative to good education.

The safe-driving course qualifies a student to apply for a Washington state driving permit. The student learns the traffic rules and how to operate an automobile. This year the students went to Lewis and Clark high school for their actual driving experience. They also paint safety display posters illustrating safe-driving techniques as a reminder to all drivers, back-seat drivers and pedestrians.

Bookroom Sells Supplies to Students; Student Office Records Attendance

When is a book not a book? When it is a back, two covers, and a body. This is one of the deplorable conditions that the bookroom workers find among the books to be mended. After textbooks are issued, the book cards are kept on file in the bookroom. A variety of school supplies are sold there, and books are mended by bookroom workers.

North Central's student office keeps the attendance records and is liaison between the administration, the student advisers and the student.

At the public office all adults who come to North Central are greeted; teachers check in and out each day, obtain their mail, and take care of other business; and all incoming telephone calls are taken and distributed to proper persons. Here, too, the permanent academic record of each student is kept by Mrs. Marjorie Stoner, secretary.

Marjorie Stoner, secretary, takes a letter out of the typewriter as Marilee Baumgartner, clerk, answers the phone.

Alice Gillespie, left, cafeteria manager, and Marie Johnson put butter on hot rolls which will be served to students taking hot lunch.

Cooks Prepare Nourishing Lunches Which Can Be Sold at Low Prices

Preparing lunches, which can be sold at a low price but still be good and nourishing, is the task assigned to the cafeteria personnel. Students wanting to supplement their lunch may purchase items from the a la carte line which is run by the snack-bar manager.

The staff consists of six members: A manager, two cooks, a baker, a snack-bar manager and a salad lady. Seeing that the preparation of hot lunch and other special dinners for the school activities is done is the duty of the cafeteria manager. Creating the main dish for the 35-cent hot lunch constitutes the work of the head cook and her assistant.

Baking rolls and combining ingredients into tasty desserts is the role of the baker, while molding salads and fixing the other salads is the task of the salad maker. Assisting the cafeteria workers are students who work as cashiers, dishwashers and milk sellers.

Viola Santora takes turkey out of the pressure cooker which she will slice.

Custodial Staff Keeps School Clean; Works on Maintenance Year Round

Keeping North Central's buildings and equipment clean and functioning properly is the responsibility of the custodial staff. The staff consists of one head engineer, one assistant engineer, one matron and eight sweepers. The custodians are on the job year-round, except for a three-week vacation. Due to various shifts, all of the custodians are never on duty at the same time.

The head engineer's responsibility is to see that the school is kept clean and that necessary repairs such as replacing burned-out lights are made. The questions of the other custodians are also directed to him.

Running the heating plant and taking care of the new gym, band and choir rooms are duties of the assistant engineer. The matron keeps the windows of the school clean and takes care of the girls' lavatories. The eight members of the staff that sweep the floors also do the necessary dusting and keep the blackboards clean for the teachers.

High Lights of 1960-1961 Events Discussed in Classrooms

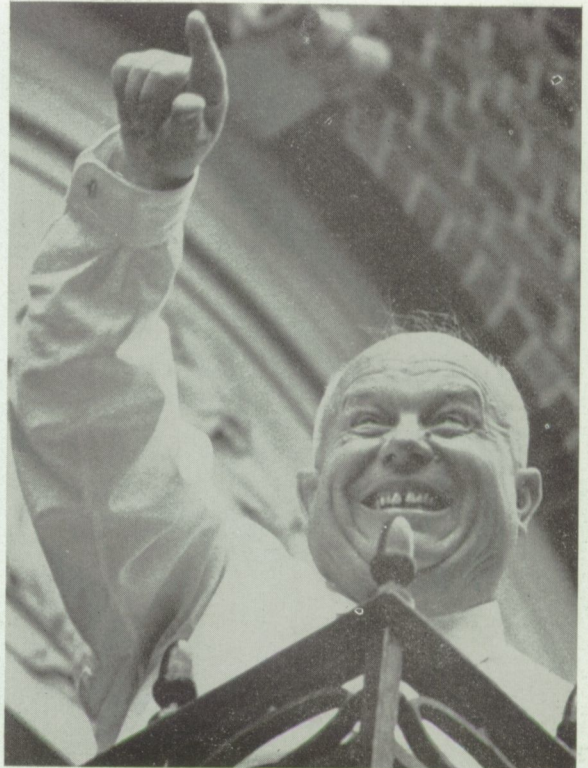

The 1960-1961 school year saw many important news events: A presidential election, a general session of the United Nations, a successful recovery of a space capsule containing a chimpanzee named "Ham," and communist revolutions in two hemispheres. The students of North Central were not unaware of these events, for many classroom hours were spent in thoroughly discussing local, national, and international events.

This illustrates the present trend of young America's concern with current affairs. Students in every classroom show an astounding interest in world happenings, perhaps more than any of their parents did. As a result of this interest, the students are quite well informed and have formed definite opinions on most events. Also as a result, there has been much agitation in the state legislature for a lowering of the legal voting age from 21 to 18 years.

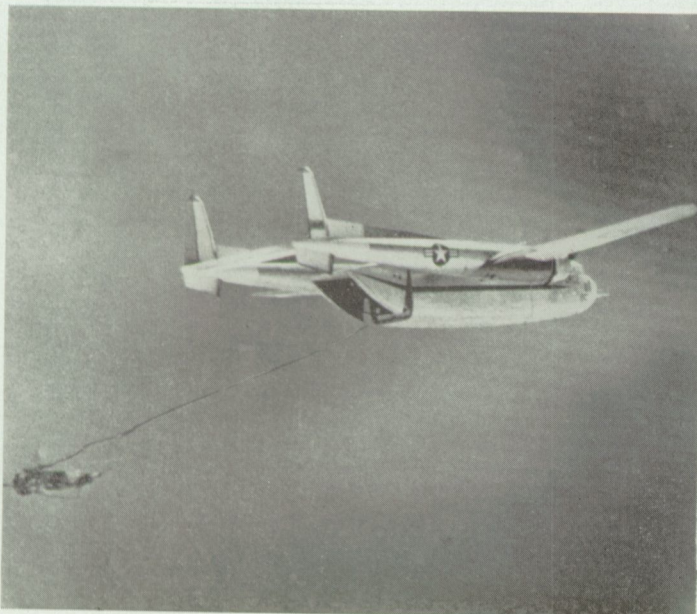

This section of the Tamarack was included so that in years hence students will be able not only to look back on the school affairs in which they were involved, but also to review national events whose impact shaped their lives.

RIGHT—After a hard-fought campaign, the people of Washington state in November re-elected incumbent governor Alfred D. Rosellini over his Republican opponent, Lloyd J. Andrews.

BOTTOM—An Air Force C-119 made a successful air recovery of an unmanned Mercury capsule over the Pacific Ocean during January.

Balcony scene was provided by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as he shouted and waved during impromptu press conference at the Soviet mission in New York during September visit to the United States.

For the first time in history, presidential candidates engaged in televised debates. John F. Kennedy and Vice-President Richard M. Nixon are shown here in their fourth and final debate of the 1960 campaign.

On a cold, windy January 20, 1961, John F. Kennedy took the oath of office, thus becoming the 34th President of the United States, and becoming the first Roman Catholic to ever attain that office.

President Kennedy posed for his first official photograph at his desk in Washington, D. C., on January 21, before plunging into a busy round of conferences.

Hi non I'll bake, it's really been kicking in your home room. You're a nice guy.
 2 years. This summer I'll lots of fun. You're a great brook

There is a Hand that bends our deeds
 To mightier issues than we planned.

George,
 I never ~~go~~ really knew you but heard plenty. You've got real leadership ability. I hope it helps you in the future.

Muriel Allison, senior class adviser, looks over a list of senior activities and committees.

Miss Allison Organizes and Advises Graduating Class of 1961

As senior class adviser, Miss Muriel Allison led approximately three hundred students through a year of activities.

Early in November the Senior Mixer was held to raise money for the months that followed. After the committees were picked, they started to fulfill their various duties to make the graduating year of 1961 a memorable one. Cards and announcements were ordered, the breakfast was planned, the play went into rehearsal, and invitations for the reception that followed the play were sent to the parents of seniors. The prom committee met and decided on a theme for the long-awaited event, and the caps and gowns were issued.

Senior Week, which marks the last week the graduates spend at North Central, was filled with many exciting moments. The prom, which was held the evening of May 27, started things rolling. The young men and women that attended will probably never forget that wonderful night.

Next was Dress-Up Day on June 1. There were many tired seniors after a day in suits and heels, but it was worth it! Following Dress-Up Day was the breakfast. Held at a local hotel, the breakfast gathered the seniors together for the last time before graduation.

The graduating class of 1961 will forever be indebted to Miss Allison and the faculty advisers for each event of their glorious, never-to-be-forgotten senior year.

Juniors Elect First Officers, Make Plans for Senior Year

Tradition was broken by the class of 1961 in their junior year. They were the first junior group in North Central's history to organize and elect officers. These officers, along with Miss Muriel Allison, adviser, and one junior representative from each home-room planned a junior dance. They also suggested temporary dates for senior activities and set November 4 as the date for the senior mixer.

The preparation of a senior expense list was another big project. These tentative lists helped the juniors plan the costs of their coming senior year.

CLASSES

Performing the tasks of learning is the work of the young Indian so that some-day he, too, may take his place among the great chiefs and warriors of the tribe. He must make the best of opportunities offered him in preparation for the future.

Finally an Upper Classman, Junior Plans for Future

Although the junior is now enjoying the privileges of the upperclassman, his primary interest is in achieving his goals as a student and future leader. As he strives to meet these goals, his way is made easier by the enjoyment he gets from the dances, morning mixers, convocations and class meetings.

Homerooms are often scenes of frolic and fun, particularly before homeroom starts, as students gather to finish last night's visit with friends.

The homeroom is also a place for business as students fill out many program and schedule cards and listen to the day's news as it is read from the bulletin. The bulletin encompasses such variants as employment possibilities, club meetings, pictures of the day, and lost and found.

Following the close of the first semester, the members of the junior class set about electing their class officers. Only in recent years have the juniors organized and elected officers. Elected for this year were Dick Herron, president; Fred Brown, vice-president; Nancy Hoering, secretary, and Joan Lanterman, treasurer.

The officers immediately started plans for their main class function. Although a Junior Prom was foremost in their thoughts, the officers also considered a class picnic. The officers spent a great many hours making plans, as they set about choosing a function which was sure to please the entire junior class.

These juniors are now assured of their leadership, and they begin looking forward to their senior year at North Central.

MR. NYE — 307 Front Row: Patricia Peterson, Charlene Howe, Connie McSpadden, Phyllis McCarter, Norma Bartelt, Beverly Wright, Jackie Schauer, Judi Wyatt, Kathy Dietor. Second Row: John Clements, Harvey Waller, Sandra Sугrue, Mary Ann Hyland, Gerrie Toth, Patricia Aubin, Patricia Wellhouser, Ben Porter, David Christensen, Jim Moore, Mr. Nye. Third Row: Dick Herron, Bill Jennen, Mike Miller, Dick Egger, Glen Jones, Jim Mulligan, Mike Gilberg, Loren McKnight, Bill St. Denis, Dick Cook.

Making a vocational notebook is a major assignment of the junior in his English class. He can be seen spending a great deal of time in the library, hastily scribbling down notes and looking up articles to use as references from stacks and piles of various books and pamphlets.

Through this project, the student learns valuable information about the vocation at which he will probably spend the rest of his life. He often discovers interesting items that he previously did not know, and he may become interested in different aspects from the vocational field of his first research.

Occasionally, after making the notebook, the student finds that he is not interested in that occupation any longer. Then he still has time to change his plans for the future.

Carol Wolfe, Sherrie Hayashi and Dan Jones, juniors, are busy gathering information for their vocational notebooks.

Activities of Clubs Interest Sophomore Year Students

Sophomore, by Greek definition, means "wise fool." Sophomore by North Central usage means "upper lowerclassman." And a sophomore, by his own reference, means that he has passed the initial freshman year, and now is ready for the "meat" of high school.

It is often said that the sophomore and senior years are the best years in high school, the senior year because it is the last, and the sophomore year because then the student likes high school, understands it, and has become interested in high school activities. This theory is substantiated by the knowledge that the sophomores, as individuals, are more active than either freshmen or juniors.

As in a stage play, where act two reveals the plot, the second year of high school reveals the true student, and the true young citizen.

John Biggs constructs a geometric figure on the blackboard as Mr. Barnard explains it to the class.

Mrs. Riegel conducts a discussion in her World History class.

Now that he is more acquainted with his school, its students, its rules and its traditions, the sophomore begins to show an interest in being on various committees and in becoming a member of school clubs. He no longer feels strange and alone, and he looks at the freshman with a slight air of superiority, glad that he is now an "upper underclassman."

The sophomore is given more of an opportunity to pick his subjects and classes, and he begins thinking of his major course and his future occupation.

Two classes which are required for sophomores are biology and English. His English class teaches him to make speeches before groups, and in biology, dissecting frogs and worms is a part of many experiments.

MRS. CONGDON — 301

Santa's suit was made by League officers of past years, and is beginning to show signs of wear. But each year, as the list of "Santas" is posted, the girls forget about the worn spots and form long lines to have their turn on Santa's knee. With the support this custom has received, it will no doubt be traditional when the freshman class of 1982 enrolls.

Many sophomore girls, looking forward to their future role as homemakers, enroll in Homemaking courses. There are two basic forms of homemaking offered: Clothing and foods.

In the foods classes, the girls learn to plan and serve a well-balanced meal. The menial details are not forgotten either, for the finer points of dishwashing and table setting are explained. Once or twice during the course the students demonstrate what they have learned by having a tea, to which their parents and teachers are invited.

Preparations for the tea take days, and no detail is forgotten. Each girl gets a chance to act as hostess, which helps ready her for her role as homemaker.

Diane McSpadden, Sandy Keller and Carol Griffin act as hostesses as A. A. Tiemann has a cookie at the Foods II tea.

MR. MANFRED — 205 Front Row: Dale Norris, Ricki Mendoza, Pam Rhodes, John Spruiell, Judi Lewis, Margaret Moss, Gregory Kreshel. Second Row: Judy Kennedy, Joyce Wall, Carol Miller, Judy Kemp, Velda Sleeth, Alice Hendrick, Judy Hart, Penny Stoesser, Mr. Manfred. Third Row: Pat Haynes, Dale Tate, Gary McDonald, Stephen Poole, Kelly Davis, Dana Dueweke, Paul McMacken.

Many sophomores, wishing to further their study of mathematics, enroll in geometry classes. By his presence in a geometry class, the sophomore shows that he has a definite interest in the field of mathematics, and he finds geometry a challenge to him.

Under skillful teaching, the students learn the mysteries of circles, how to measure angles, the different types of triangles, and the difference between figures, such as parallelograms, squares and triangles. The sophomores enrolled enjoy this course, as the program is geared to their level. With study, they can progress rapidly.

Some school systems, experimenting with curriculums, have taught all mathematics a grade lower, making geometry a freshman subject. At present in North Central and the entire Inland Empire, geometry is a sophomore subject.

MR. OLSON — Auto Shop Front Row: Ellis Nunn, Gerald Barr, Clyde Ford, Louis Procopio, Rollie Jacobson, George Collas, Fred Sterritt, John Anderson. Second Row: Mr. Olson, Neil Solverson, Leroy Miller, Larry Woodard, Vern Wittenberg, Charles Miller, Robert Jones, David Mason, Roy Lewis. MRS. OSCARSON — 225 Front Row: Rae Ellen Jones, Bonnie Brown, Sharon Key, Carolyn Stack, Mitzi Iovine, Becky Cheek, Miriam Mitchell, Joanne McKelvey, Goldie Shelton. Second Row: Mrs. Oscarson, Frankie Jean Ruby, Margie Tschirgi, Sandra Pockrus, Sharon Pierce, Cheryl Roach, Sandra Keller, Melanie Homick. Third Row: Bob Korst, Ken Egger, Sam Hubbard, Ben Costello, Dave Betts, Roger Paskell, Danny Goodman, Bob Ryan, Gabe Lapano.

Christmas also brings shiny decorations to North Central. A fir tree is set up in the lower hall, snowflakes are hung in the cafeteria, and each door has a decorative painting.

These paintings were all based around the theme of angels, and each painting was designed by a representative from the home-room. As a result, a variety of angelic pictures were seen on the doors. The representatives met after school in the art department to do the door decorations, and the entire student body was pleased with the results.

At other times during the school year, there are no specific decorations, but the hall billboards and classroom bulletin boards always boast posters advertising different elections, events or just club activities. These reflect the pulse of the school and are suitable as school decorations.

The freshman, often with a frustrated expression, slowly wanders to his classes. At last he has started high school, to find himself amid a confusion of crowded halls and one-way stairs.

Part of the freshman activities includes learning the school songs, regulations and traditions. His first high school con, his first dance are experiences he will long remember. Gradually he begins to feel a part of this new life, and he feels a glow of accomplishment.

To the freshman, the homeroom teacher is an important person who helps acquaint him with his new school and new friends. Having only vague ideas of future needs and plans, he welcomes his teacher's advice.

October brought the first real activity for freshmen, the Freshman party. This was the result of the first efforts in North Central's history to organize the freshman class. Under the supervision of Lillian Lill, a freshman homeroom teacher, the details for the party were arranged.

The party was a big success, because the freshman was made to feel at ease in a friendly atmosphere. Mrs. Lill paired the boys and girls off, which was a relief to those boys who were too shy to ask a girl to dance. A portion of the party was spent in giving dancing lessons to those boys who did not know how to dance. The freshman party is a good way to begin the high school social life of a freshman.

Color Girls' adviser Mrs. Lill demonstrates one of the finer points of badminton to her freshman class.

The importance of being physically fit is stressed more and more for the freshman, and he is expected to participate in the school physical education programs, where the training is carried on in a friendly competitive atmosphere.

Many times physical education is carried into groups formed around that purpose, such as Color Girls, which is a freshman girls' P. E. honorary group. The growing popularity of physical exercise is shown by the large membership of this group.

Freshmen who are not members of Color Girls are enrolled in P. E. classes in which they learn to swim, play basketball and volleyball, and a popular derivation of volleyball, called jolleyball. Freshman girls not desiring to participate in any of these classes can enroll in bowling or golf.

MRS. NEWETT — 104 Front Row: Karen Husby, David Janson, Allan Hoseth, Patricia Blair, Judy Reeder, Kathy Powell, Ellen Allen, Joan Reynolds, Lea Litten. Second Row: Sharon Lewis, Dianna Wiberg, Marie Taschereau, Tim Brinson, Larry Schmidt, Roy Dewey, Denny Heffernan, Noreen Jacobsen, Rebecca Johnson, Katherine Adams, Mrs. Newett. Third Row: Ray Bass, David Wolke, Jim Manley, Bill Smith, Robert Westberg, Glen Pinkerton. Ralph Cook, Jim Hayes, John Peterson, Tex Murphy, Mr. Russell.

Until he enters high school, the freshman has very little chance to practice as an individual the precepts of our democracy, such as voting and holding public office. Once in high school, the young American is strongly urged to participate in school elections as both a voter and a candidate.

The freshman can look forward to the Associated Student body, Girls' League and club offices, but more available to him as a freshman are the offices of his homeroom. If he is elected as president or secretary, he is given the responsibility of reading the bulletin or taking the roll. Running for these offices prepares the freshman student to run for the higher offices of his school. When a freshman wins a homeroom election, he realizes the responsibility of leadership.

Secretary Carmen Bendickson tallies an election in Mrs. Newett's homeroom.

One of the first things a freshman does in high school is pay a visit to the school bookroom. It is a new experience, buying paper and pencils at school, and he enjoys it, returning often.

Visiting the bookroom is only a small part of the freshman's new high school life. His classes are new to him, as is the high school routine; he has never before had six teachers for six subjects.

The procedure for lunch is new to a freshman, too, as he is faced with the complications of determining which of the three lunch periods is his.

The day for Tamarack pictures is exciting and new, also. A freshman is usually more excited over this than even sophomores or juniors.

Being a freshman is a new and different experience, one he will never forget.

Five studious freshmen, Jane Kelley, Judith Foster, John Ellingson, Tom Griffith and Bob Meek purchase paper at Mrs. Wayland's bookroom.

MR. SPANGENBERG — 414 Front Row: Bill Schauer, Steve Forsstrom, Janet Mishler, Kay Materne, Lynette Torrisi, Clo Ann Rogen, Phyllis Nelson, Bob Parks, Joe Brown. Ambitious Volunteers Undertake

Judy Cave, Marilyn Edmunds, Jean Bonser, Patty Nance, Margy Flint, Diane Francis, Sheila Bayley and Sandy McKee decorate the famed "Blue Room" for the Associated Student Body date dance, 'Winter's Wonder.'

Dirty, the weary recruits stumble toward home after a grueling day of work on the Associated Student Body landscaping project. Beautifying the school grounds is the goal of these ambitious volunteers. With pick and shovel, they tear up old tree trunks, level the ground and plant new grass. This is of special interest to future students in that the influence of this project is for their benefit.

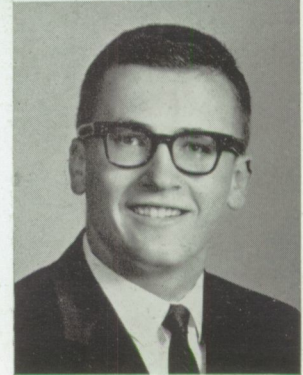

One of the high lights of the year, the carnival, held in October, was the only money-making project. Each club operated a booth and the profits were distributed equally.

Co-recreations and mixers rounded out the year's activities. Leading off was the annual get-acquainted mixer. Getting together were all the four classes to set the pace for the new year.

The first Christmas semiformal dance was held in the snowflake bedecked "Blue Room" (alias the old gym). Music, supplied by the Ralph Dickerson orchestra, rang out Beatniks, Martians and Potato men all attended the gala "Mardi Gras" costume ball. Costumes were homemade and prizes, based on originality and creativeness, were given.

Two co-recreations, one each semester, were given separately for upper and lower classmen. Added attractions were a square dance and co-educational swimming.

Representatives from each homeroom and senators from the different classes make up the governing bodies of the ASB. It is the duty of these houses to discuss all plans and problems of the groups they represent, and to settle disputes.

Standing committees are selected each semester to organize dances, schedule convocations and make college information available to seniors. Members of these committees must be approved by the Senate. A great deal of the success of the activities can be attributed to the novel convocations.

Fun-Filled Week in Idaho

One of the greatest honors bestowed on a student is being chosen to represent his school. Representatives to Twinlow spent a fun-filled week swimming, dancing and just having a ball on lower Twin Lake in Idaho. Students from all over the state met to discuss and learn about leadership and organization.

One girl and one boy from each class level make up the Senate. Each semester new representatives are chosen and sworn in at the installation convocations. Some of the most important projects taken on this year were bringing in two new clubs—Biology and Key Clubs. Revising the constitution and straightening out difficult problems were other important projects.

Girls' and Boys' State representatives are chosen from the junior class for their leadership, citizenship and scholastic ability. These students spend a week learning about city, county and state governments.

Twinlow representatives, Cathy Perry and Ron Helm, stand before the trophy case in the main hall.

Nominating candidates are members of the Election committee: Nancy Gates, Maralee Haynes, Marge Tracy, spring chairman; Shirley Haegle, fall chairman; Chuck Taschereau and Louis Grande.

Committee Members Organized

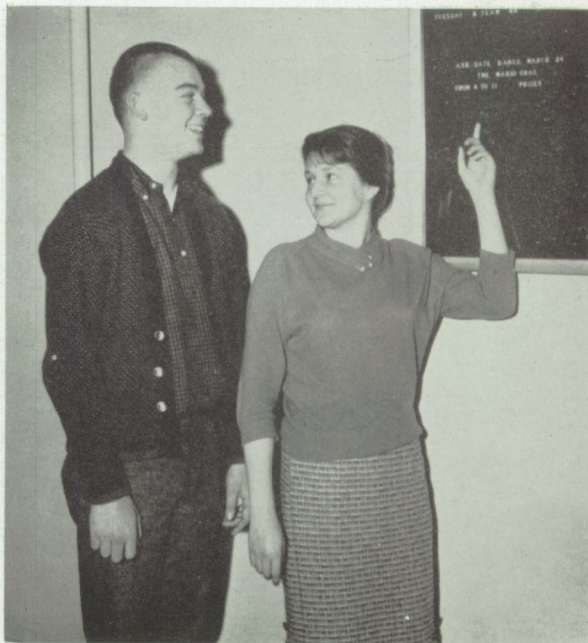

The Con Scheduling Committee is hard at work. The members are: Ken Johnson, spring chairman; Nancy Monohon, Patty Johnson and Linda Headstrom.

Planning and scheduling all convocations given during the year is the task assigned to the ASB convocation committee. Fewer pep cons were scheduled during the school year to leave room for academic cons, such as the band, choir and other groups which toured the city.

The election committee planned the elections, decided the days for primary and general elections, and processed and counted the ballots. They also accepted nominations for the House and screened all candidates, among other assigned duties.

Deciding on the kind of tickets to be sold, the price and time of the dance, picking committees to check coats, selling pop and being responsible for chaperones are the assignments given to the dance committee.

Bev Wimmer pleads with Jim Kippen to take her to the Mardi Gras.

ns, Dances and Elections

Discussing school campaigns are the publicity committee members: Sheila Bayley, Mike Williams, Deanne Mitchell, Margy Flint, fall semester chairman; Harold Beard, spring semester chairman, Sandra Whitten, Sherrie Hayashi and Sherry Bledsoe.

Jim Mulligan, fall chairman, Patti Theodorson and Ed Lamphier, spring chairman, discuss finances for student body projects.

Gathering material on scholarships and filing it for the future reference was the delegated duty of the Associated Student Body Scholarship committee.

Keeping the student body informed on important events was the responsibility of the publicity committee. Members of the committee hung posters to publicize the various events during the first semester. Students in art classes took over the duties of the publicity committee second semester.

The honors board debates on all rules pertaining to the presentation of awards to students of North Central. Determining the eligibility of students who receive their letters was one of their jobs.

The committee on finance supervised all the finances of the student body. This committee was revised with the changing of the constitution.

Members of ASB Committee

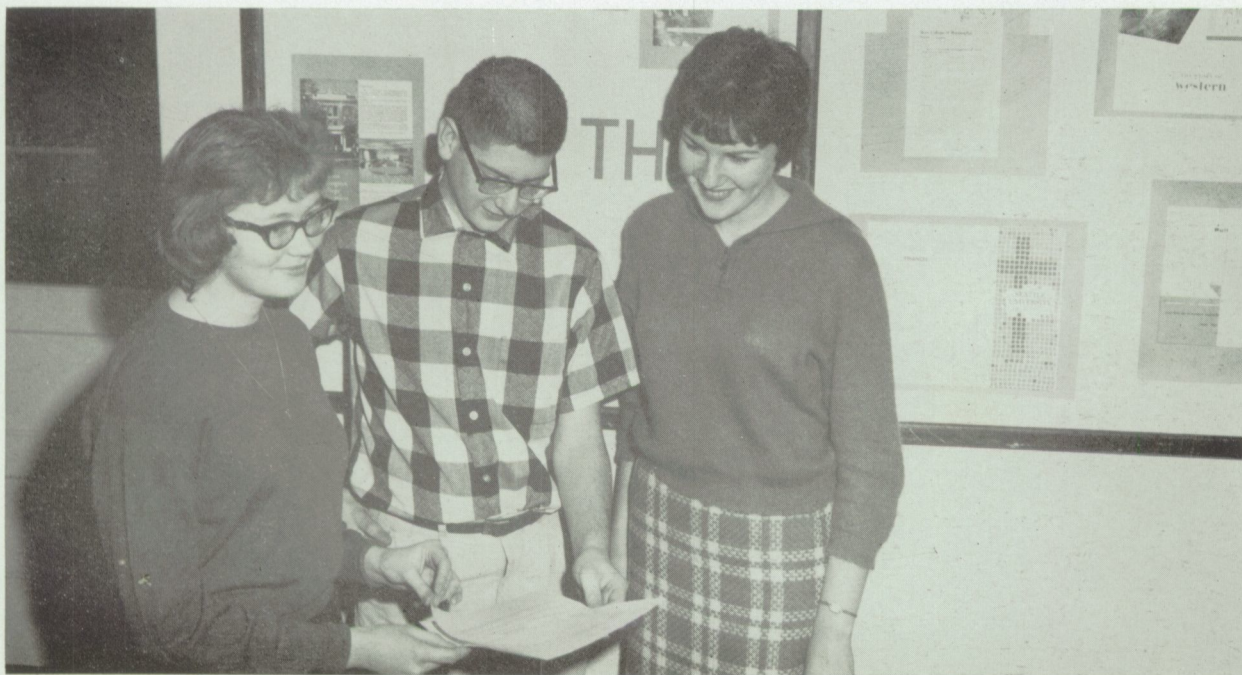

ASB Publicity Committees of the fall and spring semesters were: Tamimy Kimpel, Darrell Larson, Sandy Rudy, Bob Helm, fall chairman, Janis Willett, spring chairman, Carol Hobbs, Patty Peterson and Denise Perkins.

Admiring the city football championship trophy are Honors Board members: Joan Lanterman, Harold Walker, spring semester chairman; Ted Hegg and Carol Allen.

Little Sis Picnic Party Heads

Acquainting "little sisters" with their new school at a picnic party launched the fall semester of Girls' League activities. Big Sisters took their proteges through the halls and explained schedules and the various activities open to students of North Central.

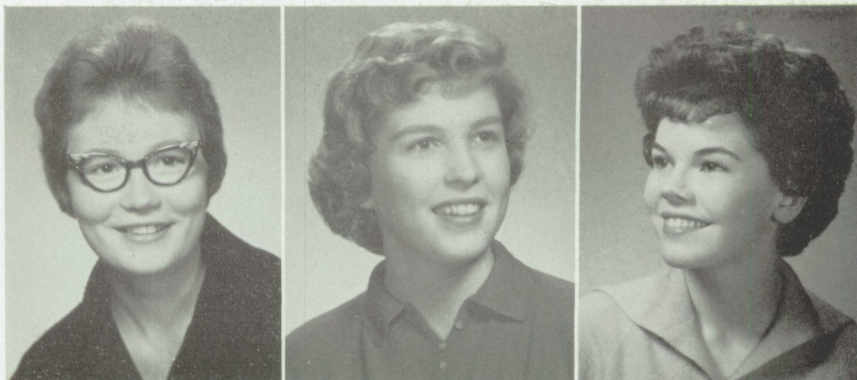

Next on the busy agenda planned by the league officers came the annual Dad-and-Daughter banquet. The theme "Autumn Leaves" was carried throughout the dinner by the programs, entertainment, and autumn decorations.

The traditional Sadie Hawkins with its Marryin' Sams and their hillbilly customers was a featured project with the sponsorship changed from Associated Student Body to Girls' League. At Christmas time Santa Claus pictures were taken to raise money and food for the League needy family. Teen talks for the girls on early marriages, flower arrangements, fashions, and hair styling followed during the fall semester.

Tamarack Staff Prepares Boo

Donald Townsend, printer, discusses the division page colors with Mrs. Barbara Eddy, art adviser, Mrs. Carol Newett, adviser, and Orval Theisen, photography adviser.

"Where is my copy? Have the proofs returned?" These frantic cries are frequently heard coming from the Tamarack room as the staff works diligently to put out a yearbook.

Everything hinged upon the selection of a theme. Once this was done, color schemes and layouts had to be planned. The art work was done by Darrell Larson and Bob Helm.

Preparation of a dummy was the first order of business for the three top editors, Susan Mueller, Annette Van Dyke and Frank Oberst. Meanwhile the rest of the staff were busy soliciting advertising under the direction of Charlotte Lipps.

"Here it is!", exclaims Beverly Chrysler as she shows the missing index card to Sharyl Burgeson and Juanita Bierig.

Two members of the school photography staff, Vickie Mertens and John Coffey, prepare to print a picture for the Tamarack.

Members Work Diligently

All the staff members participated in a convocation which kicked off the three-week sales campaign. Staff members also sold lollypops to aid in financing the yearbook. The financial matters for the Tamarack were handled by Margy Flint and Mary Mullenix.

Soon senior glossies began pouring in from the studios. Cathy Perry and Maralee Haynes spent several days busily pasting, cutting and mounting senior pictures on huge panels. Kathy Santorsola and Donna DeChenne indexed every picture that was used in the yearbook.

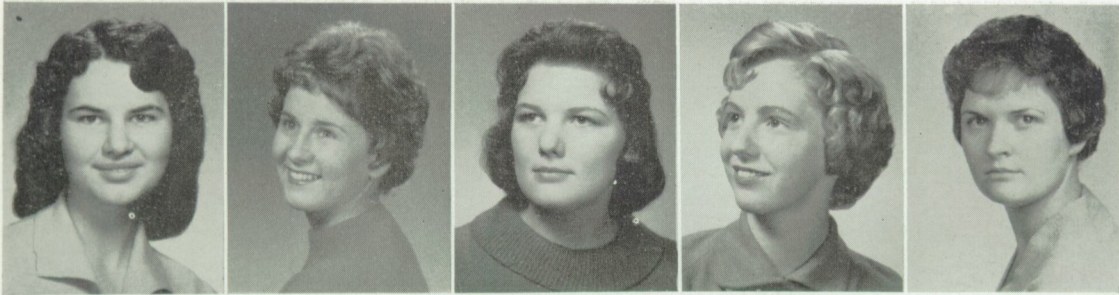

Randy Caldwell seems to be the center of attraction as the suckers are prepared for sale by Kathy Santorsola, left, Donna Potter, Kathy Blake, Janice Kennedy.

The School Life section starts to take form as Patty Johnson and Cheryl Nance concentrate on their layouts.

Frank Oberst worked on the faculty section, while Donna Potter and Janice Kennedy supervised the taking and identifying of pictures for the homeroom section. Bev Chrysler had charge of the activities section. Marjorie Tracy and Sandy Rudy worked earnestly on productions.

Helping in the last-minute rush were Ron Hildahl, head photographer; Dave Hunter, John Coffey, Bob Murphy, Victoria Mertens and Louie Grande.

Randy Caldwell handled the boys' sports section and Sharyl Burgeson the girls' sports section. Patty Johnson and Cheryl Nance planned the school life section. A new section, world affairs, was added to the Tamarack at the suggestion of Donna Potter. Three juniors, Kay Worthington, Juanita Bierig and Gretchen Hoyt, joined the staff the second semester.

Dozens of pictures had to be scheduled. This produced a big problem because of the lack of facilities for developing pictures at North Central. Art Lacey, professional photographer, came to the rescue and took picture after picture. During the second semester, the school photo staff began functioning under the direction of Orval Theisen.

The annual publications banquet was held at the Desert Hotel in May. The positions for next year's publications were announced. The Tamarack was also put on display for the first time. Tamarack staff members had a final get-together May 30 at the home of Annette Van Dyke.

As the final deadline drew near, everyone rushed to get their sections ready to send to the printers. The printing was done under the direction of Donald A. Townsend, printing head for Spokane public schools.

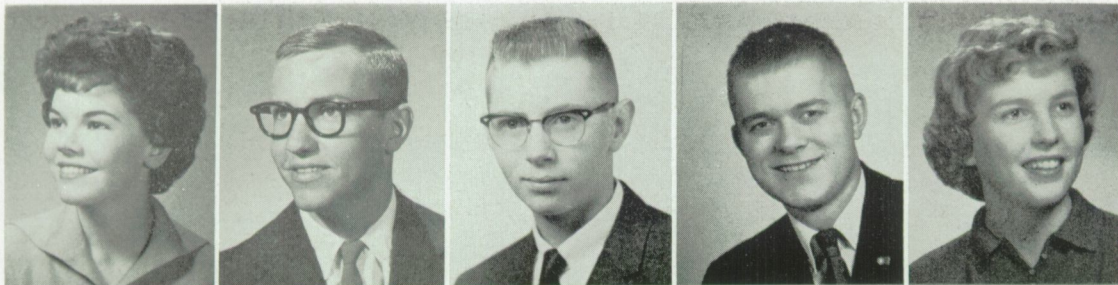

Bob Helm, Annette Van Dyke and Darrell Larson look over color schemes and drawings for the Tamarack.

Ron Hildahl and Bob Murphy seem to be amused at a negative for the School Life section.

Members of The News staff have an enormous responsibility in getting the paper to press each week. Amid the clicking of typewriters and the droning of voices, the staff editors busily plan page make-up, check cuts, and proofread copy. All news stories must be written and handed in by Thursday, a week before the publication is due to come out. Feature stories are due on Wednesday of the week before the paper is issued.

For the past 25 years The News has been awarded highest honors by both the Columbia Scholastic Press Association and the National

Ad. Mailing Staffs Assist Paper Publication

Gathering ads to pay for the paper, putting out the paper and mailing it to exchange schools are the main functions of the beginning journalism, mailing and ad staffs.

Beginning journalists learn the tricks of the trade for one semester and begin writing stories for The News the second. Contacting advertisers and hoping for the reward of a full-page ad is the work of the ad staff. The mailing staff exchanges the finished product of each week's work with other schools to gather new ideas for putting out the newspaper.

Art Club Views Exhibits, Hears Speakers

One of the most active groups of North Central is the Art Club. They attract such well-known personages as Wirth McCoy, curator at the Spokane Art Center, and Sister Paula Mary, head of the art department at Holy Names College, Spokane, as speakers at their meetings. They attend, in a group, various types of art exhibits through the year, visit local colleges such as Holy Names and Whitworth to learn their art techniques and also have social activities. One of the most prominent of these was a skating party.

Although the qualifications are high, a major or minor in art with a "B" average in these courses and a "C" average in other subjects, the club offers enough inducement to make its membership grow considerably in the past year.

These activities are all part of a program which has as its main purpose the promotion of the creative side of young people's lives.

Advanced Debaters Place High in Competition

As Carlyle once said: "Care not for the reward of your speaking but simply and with undivided mind for the truth of your speaking."

One of our most widely traveled and experienced groups, the advanced debaters participated in the Northeast district novice (beginners) debate and speech tournaments at Pacific Lutheran University, Gonzaga University and Whitworth College. At the University of Puget Sound Sharon Larson and Ron Landberg took first place in the "D" division, and Duke and Mike Sturgeon won second place in B division.

These twenty-three beginner and advanced debaters shared in the General Lions Club round-robin tournament, the Knights of Pythias speech contest and the Odd Fellows speech contest on the United Nations.

Spanish Customs and Dress, Theme of Activities

Sandra Hayward, James Palmquist and Donna Potter inspect James Kreshel's Mexican blanket.

In 1923 a small but dedicated group under the guidance of Ernesto Salzmänn organized the original North Central Spanish Club. This group had less than twenty members.

The early club bore little resemblance to the present membership which includes in its activities particular emphasis on Spanish customs and dress by using these as a theme at many of the parties and meetings. The members sang songs in Spanish at the annual Christmas party and held another party to initiate new members who were required to wear Spanish costumes. La Terulia doubles as a philanthropic club and sponsor a needy family at Christmas.

Membership may be acquired by taking Spanish and securing a "C" average in this course. Genevieve Oppen, a foreign language teacher, is the new adviser.

Members Collect Clothing For Medical Lake

Since its founding in 1959, Cercle de Menage has had many projects. Among these projects was a clothes drive held for the members of the Half-way House at Medical Lake. The members of Cercle de Menage collected and boxed the clothing themselves.

New members of Cercle de Menage were required to wear costumes representing such characters as a bum, a football coach and a beatnik to the initiation. They were then sent around the neighborhood on a scavenger hunt.

Highlighting the year was a potluck dinner by Cercle de Menage and Future Teachers of America. The guest speaker was an exchange teacher from New Zealand, who gave the girls an idea of the educational differences between New Zealand and the United States.

Another function was a slumber party, held at the house of one of the members. The girls furnished their own food and bedding.

Commercial Club Holds Joint Coke Party

Highlighting the year for Commercial Club members was a Coke party with the Commercial Club of Shadle Park High School. The party gave the members a chance to compare and exchange ideas and have a general get-together.

Each year Commercial Club sponsors a typing contest which is open to anyone who would like to test his skill on the typewriter. The contestants are given a five-minute write and those who average 40, 50, 60 or 70 words a minute receive a pin. This pin signifies the average number of words typed by the contestant.

Selling candy bars was a major money-making project for the members again this year. The candy was made especially for Commercial Club by an out-of-town firm. In addition to selling candy, the members collected rummage and held a rummage sale at a downtown hotel.

Future Nurses Sponsor 'Kidnap' Breakfast

Future Nurses of America's "kidnaped" breakfast highlighted the activities this year. The girls were called for by the officers early in the morning and taken as they were, some in pajamas and pin-curls, to a hearty breakfast at a member's home.

Throughout the year two girls from FNA visited St. Luke's hospital each week. Here they worked in the central supply room, where they helped prepare surgical materials for sterilization.

FNA, sponsored by the alumni of St. Luke's hospital, holds its open house at the hospital. The Future Nurses' training school is at St. Luke's.

The purpose of FNA is to acquaint the girls with the nursing profession. Each year the members of Future Nurses of America send money and presents to an adopted girl at Lakeland Village. The members visited the girl and toured the hospital as part of their project.

Morning Mixer Begins Activities of FTA

"Semester Stomp," a morning mixer sponsored by Future Teachers of America, celebrated the first semester's end. The tickets, in the style of report cards, were sold by members of FTA.

In recognition of National Educational Week, the senior members of FTA visited Bryant and Garfield grade schools. Here the Future Teachers observed the teaching methods of elementary grades and gained many helpful hints on class procedure.

A potluck dinner sponsored by Future Teachers of America and Cercle de Menage provided a chance for the two clubs to exchange ideas. The potluck featured an exchange teacher from New Zealand who spoke about the educational differences between New Zealand and the United States.

Another function for the members of FTA was serving coffee to the teachers at the weekly faculty meetings. This service has been performed for two years.

Service to North Central Goal of Key Club

William Sorenson, superintendent of schools, speaks to Key Club on leadership.

Key Club, one of the newest clubs at North Central, is the first such club to be organized in the Spokane area. Key Club is affiliated with Kiwanis and its purpose is service to the school as Kiwanis is to the community.

The club was organized by John P. Rodkey, principal; Ed Luders, history teacher; William C. Sorenson, superintendent of school district 81; members of downtown Kiwanis, and eight senior boys. Membership in the Key Club requires a good scholastic standing, good character, leadership ability, interest in service, good citizenship and approval by the principal.

Included in Key Club's schedule were: Luncheon meetings twice a month, one of which was a charter meeting and a banquet at the Davenport Hotel, a mixer held on January 13, and a mother-son banquet at which the girls of Vox Puellarum acted as hostesses.

Vox Members Emphasize Community Service

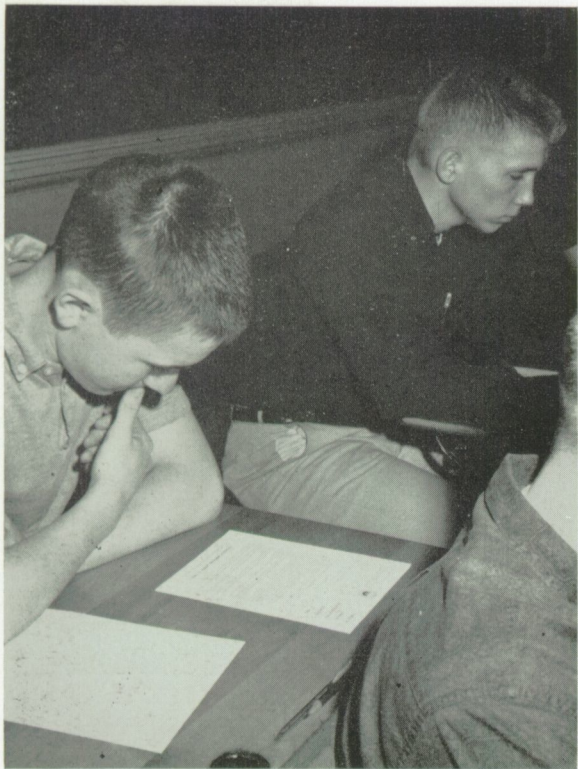

Vox Puellarum, under the sponsorship of the Soroptimist Women, emphasizes service to the community as well as to school. For their projects, Vox members chose to work with Booth Memorial and Eastern State Hospital.

In carrying out their plans, the girls were hostesses to the patients of several wards at Eastern State for a Christmas party, and they also wrapped Christmas gifts for the girls at Booth. To work their initiation in with the service projects, the new members of Vox were each given small gifts to be wrapped and placed on the "birthday shelf" at Booth, instead of the customary corsages.

In addition, Vox also presented its annual award to the outstanding senior girl, operated the panda wheel at the carnival, made the traditional valentines for the faculty, and gave a party for alumnae members at Riverview Lutheran Home.

Members of Math Club Sponsor Contest

Numbers, numbers, numbers . . . this seems to be foremost in the minds of the members of Math Club. Membership is limited to those maintaining an average grade of "B" in three semesters of mathematics and no grade lower than a "C."

Included in their activities this year was participation in the annual Math Club-Latin Club basketball game (in which Latin Club came out the victor by a score of 51-46), operation of the Hoop Ala at the ASB carnival, and sponsorship of the traditional math contests: An algebra contest for freshmen, a geometry contest for sophomores, and a national math contest for upper-classmen.

Math Club had as speakers at their evening meetings representatives from the Washington Water Power Company and Pacific Telephone-Northwest. As part of their discussions the representatives displayed certain equipment pertaining to their respective businesses.

Hayride Begins Activities Of Club Members

Latin Club started the year off with a hayride. After returning to the stables, the members and guests roasted marshmallows and weiners around a campfire. Operating the dart-throw booth at the ASB carnival was next on their calendar of events.

For a service project the members of SPQR (The Senate and the Roman People) gave a Christmas party for the children at St. Joseph's Orphanage. In keeping with tradition, Latin Club had an annual basketball game with Math Club.

An authentic Roman banquet was held near the Ides of March in commemoration of Julius Caesar's death. The initiates dressed as barbarians and acted as slaves to the members during the banquet. Their menu was based on typical Roman foods—chicken, pork, deviled eggs, and fresh fruits. A king and queen were chosen by the club members to reign over the event.

John Ramage and Jim Mulligan watch expectantly as John Campbell gets rebound in the traditional Latin Club, Math Club basketball game.

Quill and Scroll Banquet Highlights Events

Ron Hildahl, Randy Caldwell, Mike Biggs and Sherri Miller concentrate as they take the test to become members of Quill and Scroll.

Holding a publications banquet at the beginning of the second semester is one of the main activities of the Edward R. Murrow chapter of Quill and Scroll. At this banquet, positions of The News staff are announced.

Other journalistic activities of the club included holding a current events contest, selling plastic protectors for the Tamarack and enrolling The North Central News in the Quill and Scroll 1960-61 critical service to be judged.

Outstanding journalism students on The News and Tamarack staffs who rank scholastically in the upper third of their class are eligible for membership in Quill and Scroll. The Edward R. Murrow chapter was organized at North Central in 1939 for the purpose of encouraging and rewarding individual achievement in journalism and school publications.

Bob Murphy and Sharyl Burgeson were presidents first and second semester, respectively. Joseph Tremblay is adviser of the club.

Annual 'Hadie Sawkins' Begins Activities

Sponsoring the annual city-wide "Hadie Sawkins" party was the main activity of the year for 3Cs. Members of 3Cs groups from each of the city schools were invited to attend this event.

Members of 3Cs also presented a Christmas musicale in the study hall before the Christmas holidays. This event featured talent from the various churches represented in the club. Talent within the club was featured in a similar musicale presented at Easter time.

Guest speakers, music groups, skits and group singing are all a part of the weekly 3Cs meetings. The purpose of these meetings is to promote cleaner living, cleaner speech and cleaner character, along with Christian fun and fellowship.

The 3Cs is a Christian group open to all interested students of all religious faiths. Wallace Russell, study hall instructor, is adviser of the club.

Bill Randall, Kerine Anderson and Bonnie Kringle make plans for one of their weekly 3Cs meetings.

Annual Football Banquet Honors Champions

Sponsoring the varsity-faculty basketball game and the annual fall football banquet honoring our champion football team were the main projects of the year for Warriors.

Other projects of the busy athletic group were revising their constitution, sponsoring a boys' spring convocation and introducing a Warrior-of-the-Year trophy. The winner of this award was selected by the members of Warriors and presented at the spring awards convocation.

Newly instituted by the club was the Board of Warriors. Activities of this honor group include dealing with athletes who break training rules and approving all letters presented to fellow athletes. Members of the board are club officers and three junior members.

Warriors, North Central's boys' athletic club, is open to all boys who have received a major athletic award in a varsity sport. William Diedrick is the club adviser.

Members of Biology Club Promote Science

Organized at midyear for persons interested in studying biology and promoting this phase of science, the Biology Club has created specialized interest among some of the students at North Central.

Mistletoe hunting, December 12, near Riverside State Park, was the kickoff activity for members of this club, chaperoned by Walter Spangenberg, adviser. Due to the wide variety of interests of the members in many different areas, several after-school field trips were planned this past year. A visit to the veterans' medical technology laboratory came next on the club's agenda. On this excursion the members increased their previous knowledge of communicable diseases. Another field trip planned by the members was a fossil hunt.

To coincide with the recreational activities members have worked in the school biology laboratory and assisted during dissections in the classrooms.

Tau Chi Features Talent In Specialty Acts

Composed of talented students in music and other specialty arts, Tau Chi was created to promote interest and further the development of the talents of North Central students. Providing members with the opportunity of performing and developing their talent is one of the foremost activities of the club.

To improve public relations members of Talent Club performed at the House of Good Shepherds, the Veterans Hospital, St. Luke's Hospital, Masonic Orders and other organizations. A full program—consisting of two singing groups, a piano selection, a dance and a trumpet solo, and presented by an NC student as master of ceremonies—was the Tau Chi's entertainment for the Past Matrons and Patrons of Eastern Star banquet.

Membership in Tau Chi is chosen through an open house first semester and invitational tryouts second semester. This year eighteen students became new members of Talent Club.

Dramatics Skill, Interest Is Thespians' Art

"Just for the Halibut," a morning mixer sponsored by Thespians, was one of their many activities. A Halloween get-acquainted party, initiation of new members, at which they were required to give a small speech to show their acting ability, and an annual Hoagie Partie kept the members busy.

North Central Thespians, one of thousands of similar groups in the nation, was formed to promote interest and skill in dramatics. Since its organization in 1946, members have participated in school plays and other fields of dramatics.

Eligibility to membership is based on a fifteen-point requirement system. Points are earned by participating in all phases of a play. The preparation of scenery and writing of programs are two of the activities performed for a successful play. Points are also recieved for extracurricular activities. This year seven people were eligible for membership.

'Annie Get Your Gun' All-School Play

"Annie Get Your Gun," the musical by Irving Berlin, was the all-school production presented in the spring. The musical is the story of a woman sharpshooter who toured the United States and Europe in Buffalo Bill's wild west show.

Directors' staff for the play included James Simmons, music director, assisted by A. G. Tie-mann, head of the music department; Albert H. Mattus, staging and choreography director; Barbara Eddy and Ralph Montroy, set design and painting directors; Genevieve Oppen, costume director, and Vern Broadwell, set construction director.

Art students designed and painted the sets and backdrops. The stage crew built four sets in third dimension.

Tammy Kimpel and Stanley Taft design a set for "Annie Get Your Gun."

Senior Class Presents 'Our Town'

Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer-prize play, "Our Town," was presented by the members of the senior class. A unique part of the play is the fact that a small amount of scenery is required. The play is about the Gibbs and Webb families who live in Grover's Corners, N. H.

This was the first time in several years that the seniors put on a play instead of a con. The play was given under the direction of Albert H. Mattus. All the stage work, scenery and acting was done by the seniors. An evening performance was presented to the seniors' parents.

Students Present 'Amahl' At Christmas Time

"Amahl and the Night Visitors" was presented by members of the North Central drama classes. A few students not in the classes also participated. The play, given at Christmas time, was accompanied by the choir, which was led by James G. Simmons. Under the direction of Albert H. Mattus, the cast gave a one-night performance.

Amahl was a small crippled boy who lived with his poor mother in an old hut. They were visited by three wisemen who were on their way to give gifts to the Christ Child. Amahl gave the wisemen his crutch to take to the Child, as a way of expressing his love for the Savior. Upon doing this unselfish deed, he was healed. The play ends when the wisemen take Amahl with them to see the newborn babe.

Drum Majors and Majorettes Lead Band

As participants in the Merry-Go-Round Game half-time stunt, the North Central drum majors and majorettes made their first appearance of the season. Adding color to the marching groups, the majorettes were seen for the first time in new costumes of red satin trimmed with white fur. White boots and sequined tiaras of silver complemented their outfits. Contrast was afforded by the head majorette's costume of white satin and fur.

The drum majors and majorettes led the band during the half-time activities at the Indians' football games where various musical stunts were presented by the marching units of the school. As a finale to a successful year, these same students led the North Central Band, Red Feathers and Color Girls through the streets of Spokane during the colorful Lilac Parade.

Marching Band Performs During Half-Time

Participation in several football half times and the Lilac Parade were some of the activities of the marching band. The Merry-Go-Round game was their first call for performance. The band and Red Feathers chose as their theme for this production "Elections" as election day was near. The groups formed the head of a donkey, an elephant and a sample ballot.

The Shrine game featured the theme, Famous Motion Pictures. Excerpts from "Ben Hur," "Bridge on the River Kwai," and "Around the World in 80 Days" were presented. To end this half-time entertainment the group formed the Shrine emblem, shining mirrors in the lights to make the star shine. For the scene from "Ben Hur" the marching units formed a chariot, for "Bridge on the River Kwai" the formed a bridge, and a balloon was formed depicting "Around the World in 80 Days."

Broadway musicals were also given at one game. Stunts were performed from "Pajama Game," "South Pacific," "Oklahoma," "Music Man" and "Annie Get Your Gun."

Three drum major, Don Woodbury, Jim Lutz and Dennis Kuhlman, headed the marching band during their performance for the various activities. Their plumed shakos signify their rank.

School Band Strives

Stressing concert music, the concert band is trying to advance both the understanding and playing of a higher level music. In this way, music can be appreciated at every music level.

Girls' Glee and Chantelles Sing in Concerts

Another all-girl music group is the Girls' Glee. This is a nonpermission course, open to girls of all class levels. The girls participated in the Christmas Concert on December 18. Their last appearance was the North Central music department's Spring Concert.

Many performances were given by the vocal ensemble known as Chantelles, in which ten girls participated. Any girl is eligible for Chantelles, but must have an audition.

The girls sang for the various civic groups of the city and performed at North Central's band concert. They also appeared in the Spring Music Concert.

Mixed Chorus Gives Musical Training

Mixed Chorus, which is composed of both boys and girls, was newly organized this year to give musical training to students not participating in other music classes. This singing group is a course which is open without an audition to members of any class level.

Under the direction of James Simmons, the chorus had a full year. Participation in the Christmas Concert with other North Central music groups came first. The group sang spiritual as well as other Christmastide songs. Some members of the group had parts in the school production of "Annie Get Your Gun." As their final appearance of the year, the chorus sang numbers in the Spring Concert held on May 19.

After their year in Mixed Chorus, the members were eligible to audition for entry into other North Central vocal groups.

Mr. Simmons leads the mixed chorus in rehearsal session.

NC . . City Champions

For the second year in a row, the North Central Indians coached by Dave Holmes, Ed Kretz and Walt Spangenberg, brought the city-league football championship title back to North Central, having tied with Gonzaga for first place.

With a flying start, the Indians downed Mead 7-0 and then went on to win the Valley Merry-Go-Round by beating West Valley 14-0.

Next came the first and only upset of the season which left the defending champions out on a limb as Gonzaga beat the Indians 21-7. Here North Central's only touchdown was made by all-city halfback Rick Nichols. The loss moved North Central into a two-way tie for second with the Lewis and Clark Tigers as the first week of play ended.

Halfback Henthorn Scores Five of Six Touchdowns

Once again the North Central defense started rolling as they downed Lewis and Clark 41-6. The Indians scored the first time they got the ball. Five of the six touchdowns were scored by Marvin Henthorn. The other touchdown was scored by Craig Batters in the second quarter.

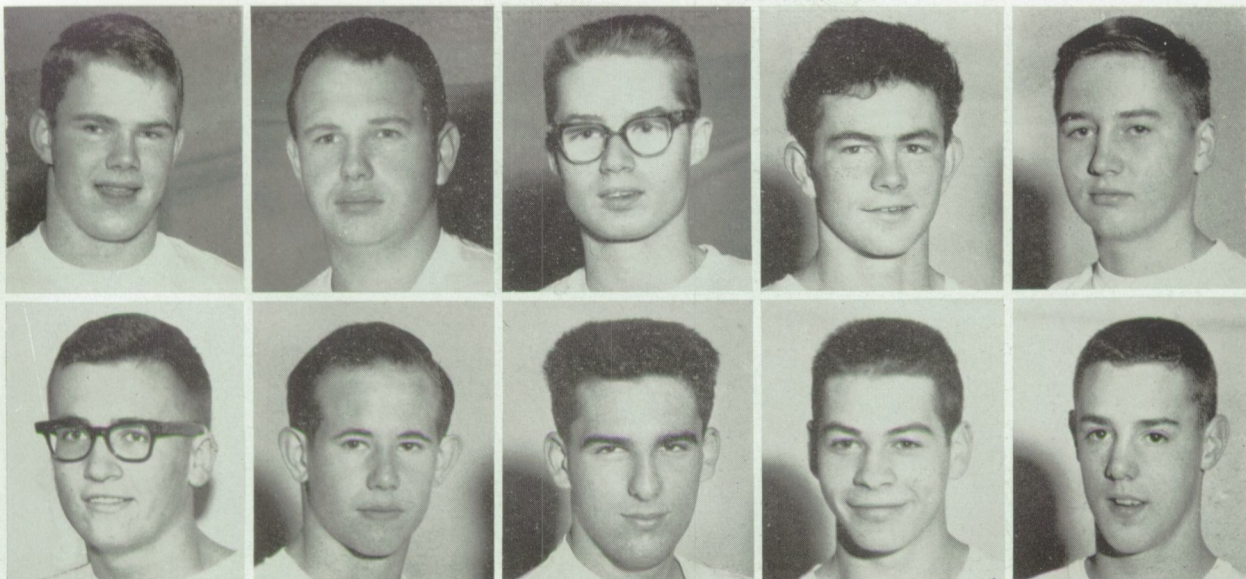

As the season progressed, North Central moved into third place as West Valley suffered a 28-6 loss at the hands of the Indians in the third week of play.

A 21-7 victory over previously unbeaten Rogers put the Indians into an undisputed second place. Marv Henthorn and Rick Nichols made the touchdowns while Tom Hedemark kicked three successful conversions.

The Indians received good news when Shadle Park beat the Bullpups. This win helped North Central move into a first-place tie with Gonzaga.

Indians Cinch League Title By Defeating Shadle Park

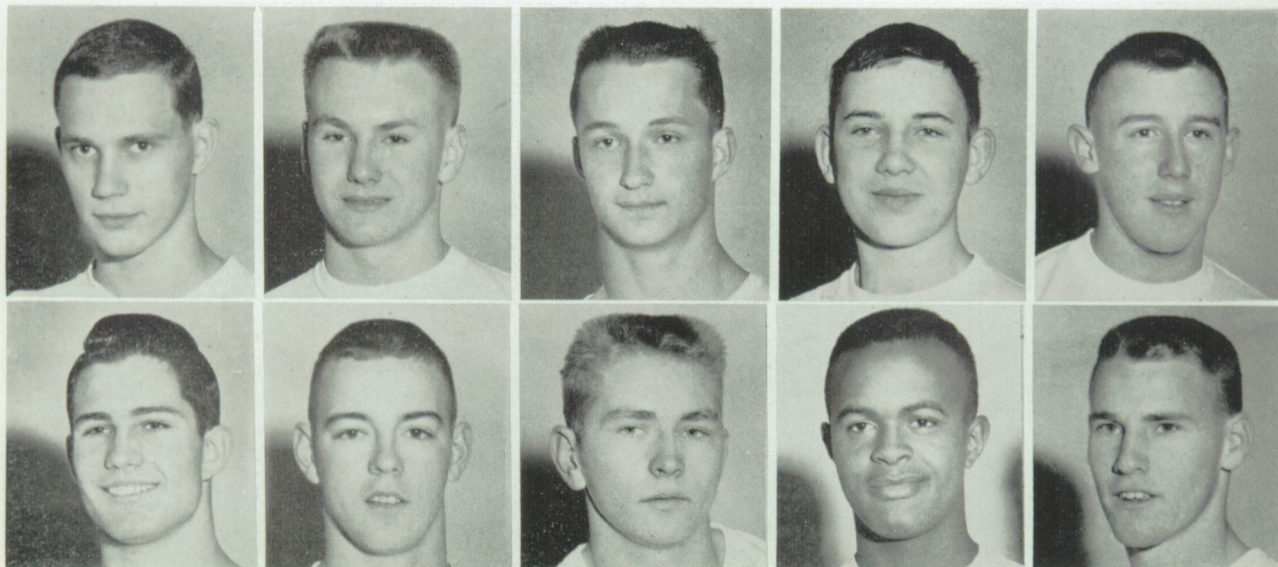

As the fifth week of play got under way, North Central beat the outclassed Central Valley Bears 30-0. Tom Hedemark kicked his first field goal of the year from the 7-yard line. The Bears managed to get into North Central territory only twice. As the game ended, they were on the Indian 38 for their deepest penetration.

With a pep rally at school, then a car caravan to the Stadium, North Central fans turned out to watch the Indians pounce on the Shadle Highlanders 28-7. Victory gave the Indians a share of first-place honors for the second straight year.

Ending the season with a 5-1 league record, the Indians then traveled to Lewiston, Idaho, to play their final game of the year against the Bengals. The Indians won 27-0.

Hedemark and Steve Anderson were picked for the second team. Honorable mention went to Harold Walker, tackle; Jim Buchanan, guard; Bruce Wilson, center; Craig Batters, quarterback, and Bill Randall, fullback.

Top man on offense was Marv Henthorn who gained 1080 yards in two seasons, and who scored 10 league touchdowns, five of which were scored in the game against Lewis and Clark in which the Indians downed the Tigers 41-6.

At the fall sports banquet, the Archie Buckley Inspirational Award was presented to Rick Nichols. Lineman of the Year award went to Eric Wolters. The blocking award went to Dave Hunter, while Tom Hedemark and Eric Wolters shared tackling honors.

Marv Henthorn was named all-state halfback by the Washington State Sportswriters' Association. Honorable mention went to tackle Eric Wolters.

Credit does not stop here, for without the fine job done by the rest of the team, the championship would not have been brought back to North Central.

Freshman Football Teaches Fundamentals of the Game

Helping William Diedrick with freshman football this year were three student coaches. They were Dave Ricketts, Lanny Anderson and Don Cox.

About 70 boys turned out at the beginning of the year, according to Coach Diedrick. It then dwindled to approximately 45.

The first game of the season saw the Papooses lose to Rogers 21-0. In action against Shadle Park, the frosh lost 7-6. On October 27, the Papooses gave up a touchdown and had a punt blocked that ended in a 9-0 loss to the Lewis and Clark Kittens. The last game of the season saw the frosh losing to Gonzaga 22-0.

Basketball Debut Opens With League Win Over West Valley

North Central's Indians fought to a thrilling climax as they downed West Valley 50-48. Pacing the Indians' scoring were Jim Buchanan and Steve Anderson with 12 and 11 points, respectively.

The squad had three returning lettermen this year. They were Steve Anderson, Craig Batters and Tom Hedemark. Other seniors on the squad were Jim Buchanan, Dave Mingo, Ron Harris and Eric Wolters, all of whom gained experience on the team last year. Another newcomer was John Martin, who transferred from Gonzaga Prep.

Players who moved up from the B squad this year were Marty O'Brien and Harvey Luiten.

Shadle Park met North Central in the second league game of the season. The Indians lost 51-40. The loss sent the hoopsters into third place with Central Valley. Outstanding at the free throw line was Steve Anderson with 13 of 14 free throws.

Coach Jerry Stannard's Redskins then met Central Valley in the first game of the triple-header held at the Coliseum. The Braves couldn't find the hoop in the last five minutes and lost to Central Valley, 59-46.

Rogers then met the Indians and gave them their worst trouncing of the season with the score of 72-39. Managing to keep his game average at 16, Steve Anderson led the Indians in the scoring department with 16 points.

On Friday, January 27, the Redskins lost to their long-time South Side rivals, the Lewis and Clark Tigers. The Tigers came from a 19-11 lag, to a 33-31 win over the Indians.

Ending the first half of league play with a game against the Gonzaga Bullpups, the North Central Indians lost 48-36.

North Central then encountered Shadle Park. The Indians suffered their second worst beating of the season, Shadle winning 71-39.

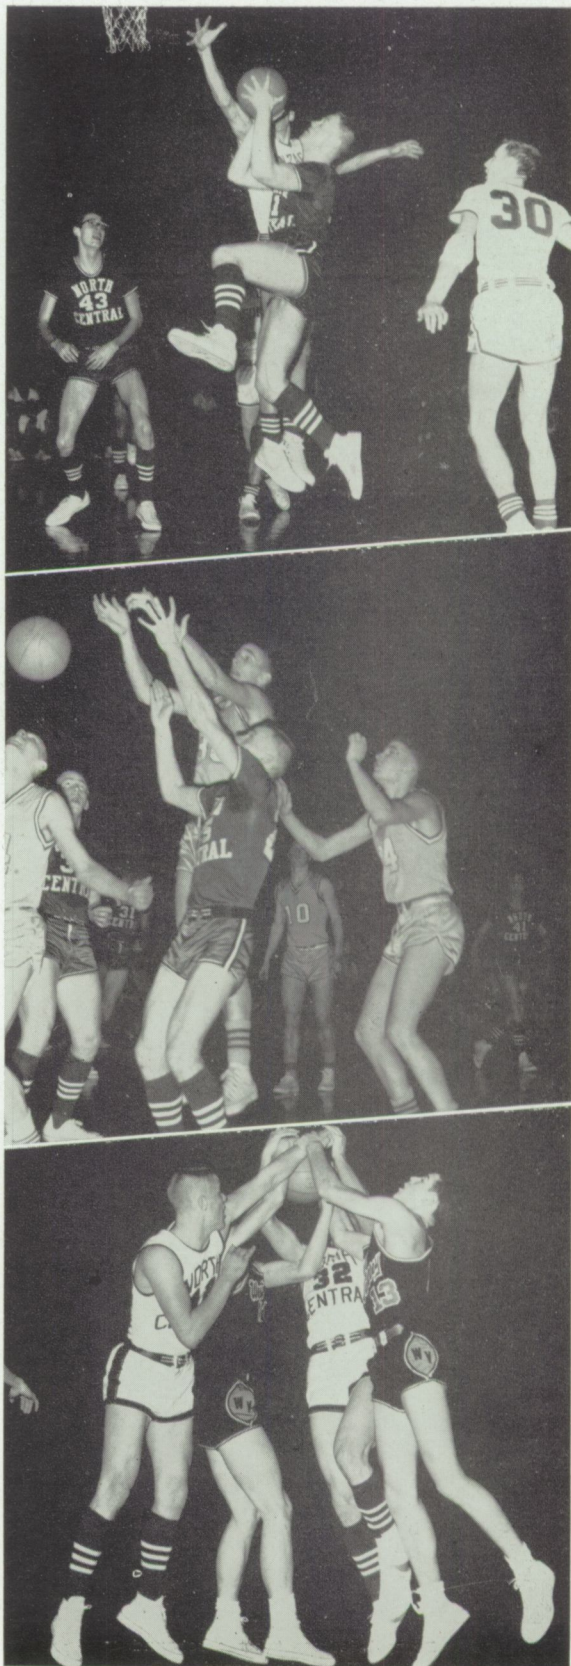

Following league tilts saw the Indians losing to Central Valley and Rogers with scores of 75-46 and 38-35, respectively.

Meeting their South Side rivals for the last time of the season, the Indians outscored the Tigers 44-40 in a close battle in the Coliseum. Steve Anderson again took scoring honors, with 15 points being high for the game.

Gonzaga took the Indians' last game 45-37. With league play ended, the Redskins ended the season with a 2-10 league record, and 6-14 season record.

North Central's center, Steve Anderson, was named to both the Chronicle's and Spokesman-Review's No. 2 All-City basketball teams. Steve finished in second place in the city over-all scoring with a 14.5 average per game. In first place was Central Valley's Ron Hansen with a 17.0 average per game. Craig Batters and Jim Buchanan both averaged 6.9, while Tom Hedemark and John Martin averaged 4.4.

Steve was third in free throws with a .775 percentage. Craig Batters had a .625 percentage and Tom Hedemark had a .556 percentage. Seventh place in rebounding was held by Steve Anderson while Tom Hedemark ranked eleventh. Steve was 13th, Craig Batters 14th, and Jim Buchanan was 25th in field-goal shooting.

B-Squad Basketball Captures Fourth Place in Competition

Winding up the season with an 8-10 league record, the Bee squadders finished the season in fourth place in league competition.

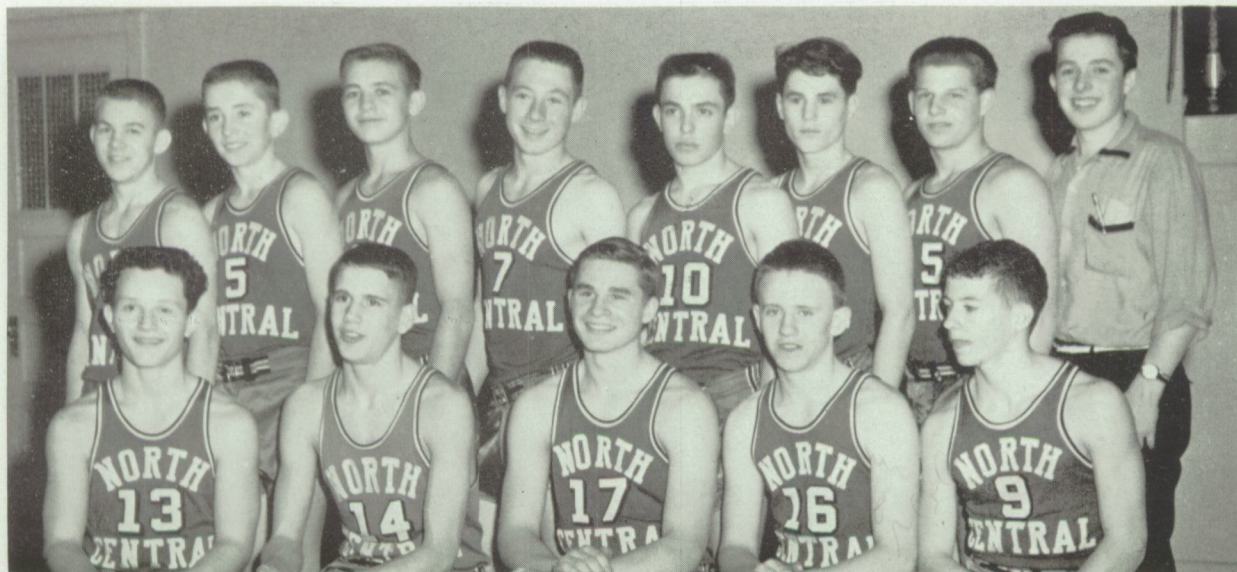

Five out of the eight games that the squad won were outstanding, for the scores were kept within two points of each other. The games were a 42-40 victory over Gonzaga, a 52-51 win over Rogers, a 49-47 triumph over Shadle, all of which were in the first round of play. The other two games showed wins of 35-33 and 44-42 over Lewis and Clark and Gonzaga, respectively.

The remaining three wins saw the Bees trouncing Rogers with scores of 58-40 and 53-36. The last win came at the expense of Shadle with a score of 62-58.

With the fine job done this year, the B squad is sure to offer fine prospects for the varsity team of next year, according to Ken Hagen, B-squad coach.

Frosh Basketball Graduates Team Members to B Squad

In the final frosh basketball standings, the freshman hoopsters finished in last place with a 2-8 league record. Ed Kretz, freshman basketball coach, had high praise for the freshmen's fine job.

Coach Kretz received a good turnout for the freshman tryouts. He then narrowed the squad down to 14 boys from those who turned out.

After winning their opening game against Lewis and Clark with the score of 28-24, the frosh dropped the next two to Rogers and West Valley. The next game saw the Little Indians winning over Shadle Park, 28-21. The freshmen then lost the last six games by scores of 27-33 to Gonzaga, 29-38 to Lewis and Clark, 23-36 to Rogers, 33-40 to West Valley, 31-32 to Shadle, and 19-41 to Gonzaga.

Coach Rates Team as Strong Contender for Pennant

"North Central is going to be a tough team to beat this year," were Coach Al Manfred's opening words. "The team has held scrimmages with Shadle Park, West Valley and Gonzaga. With schools like these, this year's competition is going to be hard to beat," he added.

Practice sessions were held on the NC diamond when weather permitted. Coach Manfred said the team had been practicing diligently prior to the league opener.

The league opener saw the Tribe nine go after a win when they met Lewis and Clark at Hart Field.

Preseason games saw the Indians win a double-header from Lewiston. The scores were 5-1 and 3-0. Coach Manfred commented on the fine pitching shown in the games, and predicted a favorable season for the Tribe. The coach also said the scores were an indication of the team's strength.

North Central saw its first action on the home diamond on April 18. The Indians hoped to emerge victorious over the Rogers Pirates.

Six seniors and a host of players up from the B squad formed the backbone of the team. The five seniors were: George Alberts, Gordy Allen, Steven Anderson, Delbert Clute and Gary Kaatz. Richard Cook, John Jamieson, Don Ludwigson, Allen Lyden, Marty O'Brien and Mike Williams were the six juniors.

Six Sophomores Complete Indian Tribe Roster

Herman Kruiswyk, Gabe Lapano, LeRoy Miller, Tom Pichette, John Ramage and Walt Schroeder comprise the six sophomores.

Gary Kaatz and Steve Anderson returned to action for the Tribe as pitchers. Adding depth to the mound staff were Richard Cook, Herman Kruiswyk and Walt Schroeder.

George Alberts, Del Clue, Allen Lyden and Marty O'Brien returned to infield posts, giving the Tribe nine much needed experience in this department. Del Clute, tops at third base, and George Alberts at second base provided plenty of power at the plate.

Others trying for infield spots were: Don Ludwigson, first base; LeRoy Miller, second base, and Mike Williams, shortstop.

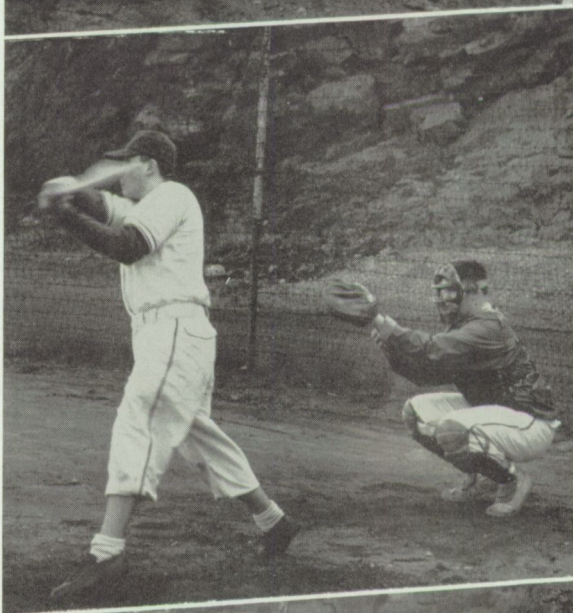

Veteran flychaser George Alberts patrolled the outfield. Assisting him were John Jamieson, Gabe Lapano, Tom Pichette and John Ramage.

Gordy Allen was the starting backstop for the Redskins. John Jamieson was a reliable substitute.

Coach Manfred attended Gonzaga university, Washington State college (WSU) and, Southern Methodist university. He has Ph. B. and M.A. degrees. He came to North Central in 1948-49 where he took over assistant coaching under Del Jones, head coach.

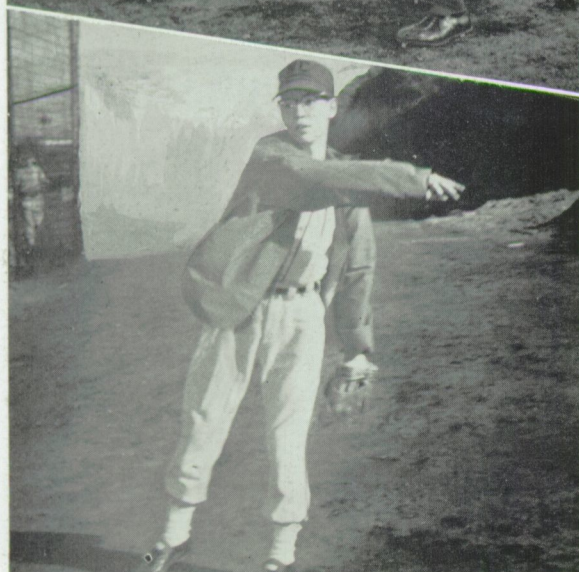

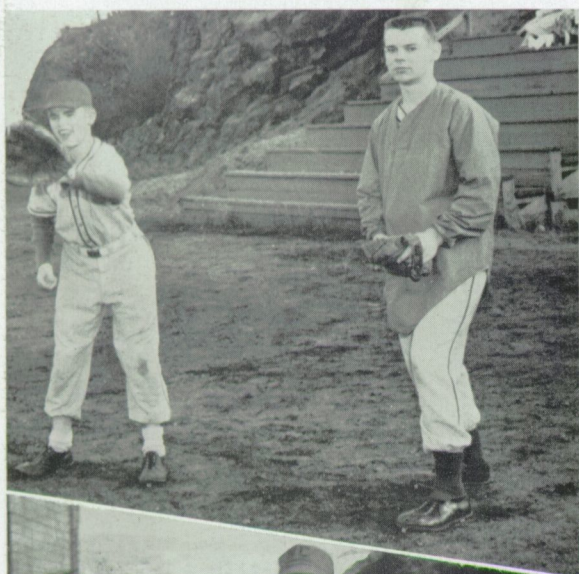

In 1950, Al became head coach. The Tribe that year captured fourth place. North Central shared honors with Gonzaga in 1952. In 1957 they went undefeated to capture the city pennant. They won a 17 of 18 game during the season. That year saw the team set a city record with 10 straight wins. The record still stands.

Bee Squadders Practice Hard for League Opener

Preseason games were scheduled for the Bees. As the Tamarack was going to press, the B squadders were practicing hard for the league opener which was held on April 13. North Central played Shadle Park on our diamond.

Games were also scheduled with Rogers, Gonzaga, Mead, West Valley, Lewis and Clark and Central Valley.

The hard-working members on the squad this year were sure to be good material for the varsity squad of next year, according to William Lowther, B-squad baseball coach.

Baseball Squad Numbers 16 Frosh Members

Coach William Diedrick narrowed down his frosh baseballers to approximately 16 at the time this story was written. Larry Bruya was rated as one of Coach Diedrick's outstanding pitchers.

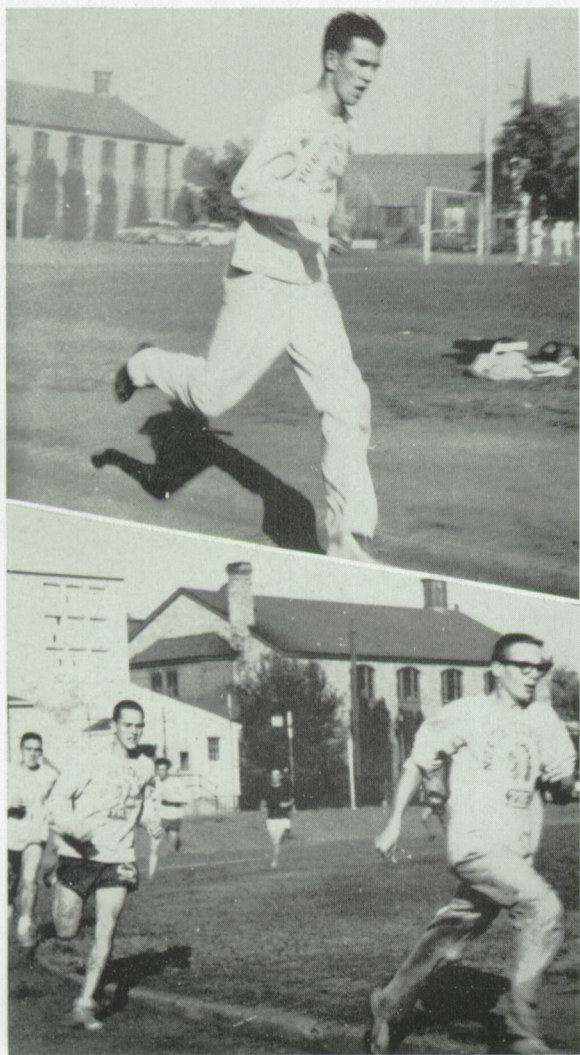

Several preseason games were scheduled prior to the opening of the frosh baseball league. Competition started on April 24 with NC meeting Gonzaga at Garry Park. First-round competition also included West Valley, Shadle Park, Lewis and Clark and Rogers. The second round of competition began on May 12.

Cross-Country Team Places Fifth in All-League Contest

Varsity cross-country team consisted mostly of lettermen returning from last year, according to Burrill Exley, varsity cross-country coach.

North Central ended the season with a 1-4 league record. They lost to Shadle Park, Lewis and Clark, Gonzaga and Rogers. The only league win came at the expense of Central Valley.

The all-league cross-country meet was held at Shadle Park on Wednesday, November 2. The team ran in fifth place with 109 points. The first NC runner across the line in the No. 13 spot was Loren McKnight.

Junior varsity placed last in their division with 149 points, while Monte Moore won the mile-and-a-half freshman run in 7:58. The Papoose squad placed second in the meet with 37 points.

Junior Varsity, Varsity Track Are Interchangeable Squads

At the beginning of the season, Coach Dale Blair explained that there is no permanent roster for junior varsity and varsity track. JV track consists mainly of sophomore and junior boys. With improvement and recognition, the JVs can move up to the varsity with ease. The boys who do not make the varsity run for the JVs.

Track schedule for junior varsity is the same as for the varsity with one exception. On May 15, a "B" subdistrict meet which included Shadle, North Central, Lewis and Clark and Gonzaga was held at Shadle. West Valley, Central Valley and Rogers met at Central Valley. Monday, May 22, saw the "B" all-league meet at Rogers.

PE Classes Promote Sportsmanship, Physical Fitness

Spring semester Red Feather officers, Linda Roper, sergeant at arms; Patti Person, historian; Teresa Merrick, chairman; Maralee Haynes, secretary, and Donna Schaber, sergeant at arms, look at the Red Feather scrapbook.

Promoting sportsmanship, physical fitness and good standards of health is the goal of the girls' physical education department. Girls are also taught the importance of a healthy, clean body in forming and preserving keenness of mind.

Miss Barbara Simpson, as director of Red Feathers and golf coach, holds the position of head of the girls' physical education department. Miss Simpson is assisted by Mrs. Lucille Lill, director of Color Girls and tennis coach.

Physical education classes offer a variety of courses including tumbling, volleyball, basketball, softball, badminton, tennis, golf, paddle-minton and swimming. Techniques of marching, rhythms and calisthenics are undertaken. A special songleading class under the senior song-leaders is given.

Color Guards is a name which stands out among the marching units organized for the team support at North Central. Try-out for these honorary positions are held among the junior Red Feathers in the spring.

Two girls are chosen for the position on the basis of their height, their marching ability and their over-all participation in Red Feathers. These two girls, along with the two boys who also serve as Color Guards, lead the band, Red Feathers and Color Girls in parades and stunts.

Dressed in snappy red jackets and eye-catching short white pleated skirts, the Color Guards have a unique uniform. Red hats with a white plume and white majorette boots complete their outfits.

Reminiscing the year's activities are Sandy Bowen, sergeant at arms; Colleen Zehm, historian; Linda Roper, chairman; Marge Tracy, secretary, and Cathy Perry, sergeant at arms, spring semester Red Feather officers.

Two Color Guards Selected to Lead Marching Units

Color Guards, Carol Bursch and Judy Ross practice for the annual Lilac Parade.

Red Feathers Are Backbone

Being easily distinguished by their sparkling white uniforms with red fringe and feathers, the Red Feathers are the backbone of North Central's sporting events.

Red Feathers are hand picked each semester on the basis of their class, junior or senior, their marching and dancing ability, their grade average and their participation in the physical education department activities. The girls are chosen by Miss Barbara Simpson, Red Feather director, and the Red Feather officers.

NC's Sporting Events

Demonstrating their marching ability in stunts and parades, the Red Feather group is widely known. In addition to marching and cheering at games, the girls also participate in fund-raising drives, charitable projects and the promotion of ticket sales. School spirit is kept alive and cherished by each of these girls.

Badminton

Divided into five groups because of the tremendous turnout and enthusiasm for badminton, both doubles and singles matches were played.

Basketball

Round-robin tournaments were scheduled to determine a winning basketball team. This year the juniors and seniors were declared champions.

Large Class of Color Girls Separates Into Two Units

For the first time, because of the increased enrollment in Color Girls, freshman and sophomore girls were divided into two separate classes. Each class selected its own officers by popular vote to serve for one semester.

Presiding over all meetings and seeing that various committees run smoothly is the job of the class chairmen. The secretaries record the minutes of all meetings, while the task of keeping an accurate record of all Color Girl activities in a scrapbook falls to the historians. Two sergeants at arms for each class keep order at all Color Girl functions.

In addition to conducting the meetings, the Color Girl officers check rows in the gym and out on the field, where they are responsible for keeping the girls in order.

Fifth Row: Barbara Crossman, Jeanne Curryer, Joan Othmer, Judy Kemp, Sally Mast, Sharon Pitts, Judy Seivers, Judy Brahe, Linda Herr, Kay Gilbert, Pat Holland.

Cheering for the basketball team are Sally Mast, Helen Miller, Bobbie Aurand and Tresa Pounders.

Color Girls Participate

Color Girls, a freshman and sophomore marching unit, may be recognized by their wine-colored sweaters bearing arrowhead emblems, black, gored skirts and spotless white shoes. This peppy group promotes the sale of tickets for athletic events, assists in fund-raising and charitable projects and participates in football half-time stunts and parades.

Football Half-Time Stunts

Consisting of 104 members, Color Girls serves as a preparation for Red Feathers. The aims and purposes of the unit are to develop each girl physically, mentally and socially.

Starting a new tradition this year, freshman and sophomore songleaders were chosen from the Color Girl unit to lead cheers at B-squad and freshman games.

Carolyn Davis and Sharon Wilson are enthusiastic about our winning football team.

Only Top Eight Girls on Tennis Team Eligible for Tournament Competition

Tammy Kimpel shows good form while returning a serve.

Two tennis tournaments, the annual Spokane high school tournament held in the fall, and the spring semester's Inland Empire high school tournament, are high lights for the tennis squad. Only the top eight girls on the tennis team qualify for tournament competition.

In addition to the annual tournament, the girls play league games with other Spokane and Valley high schools. This fall the squad rated third in city league competition.

Colleen Zehm and Bonnie Anderson were captains for the school year.

Golfing Interest Increases at NC; Girls Challenge Other School Teams

With twenty-four members in the fall golf class and twenty-seven in the spring class, interest in golfing has been increasing at North Central. Tournaments with Shadle Park, Lewis and Clark and Rogers were played this year.

Joe Durgan, professional at Downriver golf course, gave lessons to the girls. During the winter months, lessons were received in an indoor driving range.

In the spring a mixed two-ball foursome tournament was played with the boys' golf team. Sherian Thompson was captain of the golf squad.

Volleyball

Practice tournaments familiarized the girls with some of the advanced techniques of volleyball. Matches between various groups eventually determined a winning team.

Spring Sports

Softball and track events, including relay races, baseball distance throw, shot-put and broad and high jumps were some of the popular attractions of spring sports.

Ice Skating

Fundamental steps were given the beginners in period 6 ice skating. Both beginners and the more advanced students profited from additional instruction.

Swimming

After-school swimming class is one of the most eagerly awaited classes each year. It encourages all girls to become better swimmers and to learn some of the art of diving.

Donald A. Townsend, printing head, is taken by surprise while he is busy working on the production of the 1961 Tamarack.

A Teacher Affects Eternity: He Can Never Tell Where His Influence Stops.

—H. B. ADAMS

Donald A. Townsend, printing head for Spokane Technical and Vocational School, has been connected with the production of the North Central Tamarack for eighteen years.

No small part of the credit for the many state and national honors won by the Tamarack must be given to Mr. Townsend for his excellent advice and judgment through the years. Many hours of his time have been given to North Central students who have learned from him invaluable lessons which they have carried on through life. Another of his many jobs is working on the weekly publication of The News, which has also won many state and national awards.

Before working at the print shop, he was employed by the Inland-American Printing Company. Previously, he served in the army during World War I. Mr. Townsend is married and the father of three children, all North Central graduates.

George,
 Take it easy this summer & play it cool your really sharp stay that way. See ya next summer maybe.
 Lila.

George,
you're a real good head and its been fun being in the same class this year.

Bill Schoepfle

George.
Despite all the mean things I say about you, I think you are the nicest sophomore I've ever met. Good always George.
Love ya
Larry Johnson

George,
KEEP A TOOL
FOOL ON ALL THE DAYS. KEEP "B" ON
THE BALL. SEE YA
NEXT YEAR.

ERWIN
WILLIAMS

It been lot fun shoot the trap with you George
Keep on this summer
and have a real good time, and stay out of trouble
you a real good head
Chiff Surges

George, it been fun running around with you I hope we go out with the boys some time. Glad to hear it.

George,
To one good
- - - to another good - - - Larry

George: Hi!

GEORGE.
WE REALLY DIDN'T SPEAK TO MUCH THIS YEAR-uh-but you ARE busy &
SO AM I - we've changed
SINCE FINCH & GLOVER
FOR THE BETTER!
HOPE WE CAN BE BETTER FRIENDS NEXT

Love

The page contains a background of indigenous-style drawings, including figures on horseback, standing figures, and various objects. Overlaid on this is a large, diagonal block of handwritten text in a cursive script, which appears to be a list or a series of entries. The text is written in a dark ink and is oriented diagonally across the page.

Well cool man hope to see you next year.

Dear
 Summer,
 I hope you know that I am going to see you soon.

George
It was - let you understand it. I hope of your want a wonderful year, have best of luck
you have to come.
All the good work.

H!

George had a rest
from housewifery.
at least he.
